Romania Strives To Avert Invasion

Ouster Seen Of Prague's Liberal Unit

PRAGUE (AP) — Liberals who controlled information, education and the secret police were reported on their way out today in a snuffle to make Czechoslovakia's Communist government more acceptable to Moscow.

Meanwhile, Soviet security men moved behind the scenes to tighten the Russian grip on the country occupied 10 days ago by 350,000 Soviet-bloc troops. The Russians were reported putting their own experts into all ministries and into the Czechoslovak Communist party's central committee building. The Soviet press reported resistance to occupation troops in the countryside and said "The struggle is far from being over."

The main figure reported on the way out in Premier Oldrich Cernik's government shuffle was Interior Minister Josef Pavel. Under him, the secret police had stayed in the background since Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek began in January leading the nation away from 20 years of Stalinist rule.

There were reports, but no official confirmation, that Pavel already had resigned.

Soviet soldiers guarded his ministry and he has not been in his office for 10 days, although he still attends Cabinet meetings.

Information Minister Miroslav Galuska, Education Minister Vladimir Kadlec and Cestmir Cisar, the Communist party Presidium member in charge of the press, also were reported likely to lose their jobs. Cisar has been in hiding.

There was some doubt whether Deputy Premier Ota Sik, Dubcek's planner of economic reforms, and Foreign Minister Jiri Hajek would return to Czechoslovakia from Yugislavia. Both were abroad when the Soviet troops invaded.

The entry of Russian experts into key positions came despite the accord worked out in Moscow. That provided the occupation troops would leave Czechoslovakia when the situation "normalizes" and would not interfere in the country's internal affairs.

The Czechoslovak government has been going ahead with another part of the accord—reimposition of press censorship. The government said Friday night that censors will start work immediately on Czechoslovak newspapers and broadcasts. have been operating clandestinely to put out uncensored news.

One informant said Cernik was asked at a briefing three days ago if the government could guarantee journalists' safety if they came out from underground.

"I can't even guarantee the government's safety," the informant quoted Cernik as replying.

Concessions Offered Soviet Union

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — Romanian leaders, alarmed by reports of a Soviet military buildup on their country's unprotected eastern borders, were reported searching today for a political settlement to the East European crisis to avert the threat of invasion.

Reliable sources said President Nicolae Ceausescu has offered concessions to the Soviet Union—including renewal of a 20-year friendship and assistance pact—in return for guarantees that Romania would not be occupied.

A formula proposed to the five hard-line members of the Warsaw Pact reportedly calls for a conference of ruling Communist parties to discuss terms for the withdrawal of occupation forces from Czechoslovakia under an accord to be found with the liberal Prague leadership.

According to the sources, restoration of Czechoslovakia's full sovereignty is considered a precondition for an over-all settlement. The concessions Romania was said to have offered include:

—Renewal of the Romania-Soviet pact of 1948 which ran out earlier this year and was not renewed because of disagreement on the terms.

—A formal declaration of loyalty to the Warsaw Alliance to assure the Kremlin that independent-minded Romania would remain a member.

—Participation of Romanian troops in pact maneuvers, which virtually ceased four years ago. However, maneuvers should not be held on Romanian territory for the time being—evidently because they might serve as a pretext for occupation.

—More Romanian trade with East European countries whose share in the over-all volume has fallen behind trade with the West.

—A higher share in the East bloc's foreign aid for underdeveloped countries.

The formula was said to have been submitted to pact governments earlier this week, following Ceausescu's Aug. 24 meeting with Soviet Ambassador Alexander Bassev, which triggered speculation about a Kremlin ultimatum to let Warsaw Pact troops enter Romania for maneuvers.

The government maintained strict silence despite Soviet, Hungarian and Polish charges of having supported Czechoslovak "counterrevolutionaries" by siding with the forces of Party Chief Alexander Dubcek. But the press continued to give top coverage to Czechoslovak developments.

The Bucharest regime withheld comment on President Johnson's statement which quoted rumors of another Soviet invasion in southeast Europe.

Government-controlled news media did not report the speech, but many Romanians heard about it from Western radio stations.

The official silence was part of the strategy of avoiding moves the Kremlin could take as provocation. In private conversations, officials welcomed Johnson's words as a sign of encouragement.

"The United States will not go to war to defend us, but surely the Russians will listen to Johnson," one official said.

Western diplomats and Romanian travelers had reported a growing number of Soviet and Bulgarian troops near Romanian borders Friday.

In his San Antonio, Tex. speech, President Johnson did not mention Romania by name but reports of a threat to this country have been circulating widely.

"We don't know what to make of it," said one Western diplomat. "It might be the real thing or it might be just another move in a war of nerves."

A group of Romanians returning from a visit to the Ukraine, said they had seen Soviet troops headed toward Romania.

"The roads leading up to the border were clogged with troops heading west," one traveler said.

Long columns of Soviet tanks and artillery were near the Prut River, which forms the border between Romania and the Soviet Union in the east, another said.

Other travelers who crossed into Romania at Albita, said Soviet armor personnel carriers and guns were massed near the Ukranian town of Kotovskoje.

U.S.-Soviet Link Under New Study

Cultural Exchange Cuts Eyed To Hit At Czech Invasion

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials appear to have settled on pick-and-choose tactics to show disapproval of Russia's invasion of Czechoslovakia without abandoning a long-range policy of trying to improve East-West relations.

At the moment, U.S. diplomats are combing through items in the U.S.-Soviet cultural exchange program to see what might be cut back in line with American distaste for appearing too chummy with the Kremlin now.

The exchange program was begun a decade ago to help bring the two nations out of their Cold War postures. The idea was that trading visits students, teachers, athletes, scientists artists and the like would bring about better understanding and thus better relations.

The State Department said Friday that the 1968-69 version of the U.S.-Soviet cultural pact —signed in Moscow July 15—is under review along with similar U.S. exchange programs with the other Communist countries occupying Czechoslovakia. These countries are Poland, Hungary and Bulgaria.

While no final decisions have been made, one project reported likely to be cancelled is a proposed trip to Russia next month by the University of Minnesota band.

On the other hand the newly inaugurated commercial air flights between New York and Moscow, a by-product of the cultural exchange program, is expected to continue.

The negotiations to start U.S.-Soviet talks on curbing the superpower nuclear missile race are at a standstill for the time being. But officials say they believe it will be in the interest of both the nations to get going on the discussions sooner or later, despite the Czech crisis.

Prospects for a trip by President Johnson to Moscow are deeply clouded by the Czech affair, however, and it is now doubtful that the atmosphere will clear soon enough for him to make such a journey before his term ends in January.

On a lower official level, Washington authorities said they have tightened up on travel by Soviet diplomats in the United States. Russian diplomats here and in New York are supposed to get State Department clearance for movement outside these areas.

Americans who ask at U.S. government offices about traveling to the Soviet Union are being advised not to go there. However, the State Department has not gone so far as to declare Russia or other East European states off-limits to U.S. tourists.

A stiffer series of U.S. actions could come if Soviets invade independent-minded Romania. U.S. authorities are watching reports of massing of Soviet forces along Romania's borders, but thus far are inclined to consider them part of a war of nerves being waged by both sides.

LBJ Warns Of Possible New Thrust

Will Not Appease Those Who 'Prowl' Over Boundaries

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, noting reports Red troops are massing for a possible Czech-style invasion elsewhere in Eastern Europe, says he will not appease those who "prowl across national boundaries."

"Let no would-be aggressors misjudge American policy during this administration," Johnson said Friday night in the strongest language he has beamed toward Moscow in months.

Johnson, however in a speech to a hushed audience of dairymen in San Antonio, stopped well short of threatening military action against any Soviet border busting.

He named no country as a possible target of a new invasion.

But White House sources said Johnson spoke on the basis of sufficient information, presumably about threats to Romania, to cause "anxiety."

Shortly before leaving his ranch home to fly by helicopter for the annual convention of Milk Producers, Inc., a marketing cooperative, Johnson received a report of ominous signs in Eastern Europe from Walt W. Rostow, his special assistant for national security affairs.

The President, aides said, then conferred by telephone with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford before preparing an addition to his speech text.

"Let no one unleash the dogs of war," Johnson told the 3,500 dairymen.

"Let no would-be aggressor misjudge American policy during this administration. I express the hope and the belief that there will be no condoning of aggressors and no appeasement of those who prowl across national boundaries—by this or by any other American administration," he said.

After deploring the Czech invasion, he said, "There are even rumors late this evening that this action might be repeated elsewhere in the days ahead in Eastern Europe."

He went on to say "We cannot and we must not in the year 1968 return to a world of unbridled aggression."

Even while speaking of possible Soviet military moves, Johnson expressed hope that world leaders would resolve problems "around a conference table instead of on the battlefield."

Provincial Capital Shelled

Enemy Slays 15 Of Viet Civilians

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy troops fired mortars on a provincial capital in the northern central lowlands early today and then stormed through two nearby refugee camps killing 15 civilians and wounding another 22, government spokesmen said.

The reign of terror at the provincial capital of Hoi An, 365 miles northeast of Saigon, was the second such incident in the northernmost province in the last three days.

Two days ago, enemy terrorists broke into two defenseless hamlets 65 miles farther south and killed 18 civilians, wounded five and kidnaped 65 others.

Two civilians were also kidnaped in today's raid and 85 houses were burned.

The attack came at a time when enemy attacks that have been sweeping South Vietnam in the last two weeks generally appeared to be tapering off.

But a senior U.S. official said the enemy "certainly has the capability to crank it up again."

"I wouldn't even hazard a guess as to what they are doing," said one officer. "There's no question the action has tapered off. But look at it this way, they have their normal ups and downs."

There was no immediate explanation for the two attacks on the refugee settlements, but the enemy often has done the same thing in the past to show the people that the South Vietnamese government is incapable of defending them. Another motive could be that of punish-

Bribery Scheme In State Business

Barron Acquitted, Four Convicted Of Conspiracy

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — A federal jury has acquitted former Gov. William W. Barron and convicted four other men, including two officials of Barron's 1961-65 administration, on charges of conspiracy.

On the 15th day of the U.S. District Court trial and after more than 18 hours of deliberation, the jury brought in a verdict Friday. The government had charged that the defendants conspired to carry on a scheme of bribery for state government business.

Convicted were Burl A. Sawyers, a former state road commissioner; Vincent J. Johnkoski, former deputy road commissioner; Bonn Brown, an Elkins lawyer, and Alfred W. Schroath, who owns businesses in Clarksburg and lives in Ohio.

Motions were filed seeking to overturn the convictions and Special Judge J. Robert Martin Jr. of South Carolina withheld sentencing. The convicted defendants will continue free on bond awaiting a hearing on the motions.

The maximum sentence is five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Truman E. Gore, a former state finance commissioner, also was indicted but a mistrial was declared in his case last

Wallace Aides Eye Court For Ballot Place

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Backers of third party presidential candidate George C. Wallace will turn to the U.S. Supreme Court in their efforts to get the former Alabama governor's name on Ohio's November election ballot.

The move follows a three-judge federal court ruling which denied Wallace a spot on the ballot but ordered the state to provide space for write-in votes.

Wallace spokesmen said Friday an appeal will be filed in the Supreme Court next week, probably on Tuesday.

The federal court in ordering the state to make provisions for write - ins, voided certain sections of Ohio election laws which had forbidden write - ins during general elections.

In announcing plans to go to the Supreme Court, Wallace's attorneys noted that all three federal judges had concurred in declaring that Ohio election statutes relating to third party and independent candidates are unreasonably difficult to comply with and unconstitutional.

Traffic Toll Rises Slowly Across U.S.

By The Associated Press

Traffic deaths mounted slowly today as millions of motorists filled the nation's highways in pursuit of Labor Day weekend outings.

The toll has reached 40 on this first full day of a three-day weekend that began at 6 p.m. Friday and ends at midnight Monday.

The National Safety Council has estimated that 575 to 675 persons may be killed in highway accidents over this holiday that is normally one of the summer's busiest traveling periods.

An Associated Press survey showed 518 persons died in traffic in a nonholiday weekend from 6 p.m. Aug. 16 to midnight Aug. 19.

To Run Campaign, Head Democrats

Humphrey Picks O'Brien For Dual Roles In Party

CHICAGO (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has broken with tradition by naming Lawrence O'Brien to both run his campaign for the presidency and at the same time head the Democratic party organization.

In a move to assert his control over the party, Humphrey Friday removed John M. Bailey of Connecticut as chairman of the Democratic National Committee and replaced him with O'Brien, a top aide to President John F. Kennedy and postmaster general under President Johnson.

Humphrey then broke with tradition by naming the 51-year-old O'Brien as his campaign manager against GOP challenger Richard M. Nixon. The vice president thus ended what has become an often disruptive split between the presidential candidate and the party organization.

To make sure there was no doubt, Humphrey emphatically told reporters that O'Brien would be in full command of his campaign, and the Democratic party organization.

O'Brien, who engineered President Kennedy's legislative program through Congress, accepted the dual position under Humphrey only after the vice president moved to help him keep lines out to private industry for after the campaign.

Humphrey talked to representatives of three industrial firms and assured them that O'Brien would be available to consider job offers after the presidential campaign.

Neither Humphrey nor O'Brien would say what firms were involved.

The National Committee quickly and unanimously accepted Humphrey's designation of O'Brien as its chairman. The committee members cheered the vice president's announcement that O'Brien would also be running the campaign.

Their cheering was a little less enthusiastic when Humphrey told them that while the National Committee stands ready to help with money whenever it can, the first responsibility for keeping the party solvent should be at the state and local level.

With unity the watchword after a shrill and devisive convention in this guarded city, the committee soon found itself in a brief squabble over who will be the committee representatives from Georgia.

That reflected the credentials battle at the convention between the regulars appointed by Gov. Lester Maddox and challengers led by the black state legislator, Julian Bond. The convention resolved the dispute by seating half of each delegation.

The committee put off the matter by referring the question to a special subcommittee, meanwhile seating the two regular representatives until the committee reports.

Algeria Releases 12 Israeli After Plane Hijacking

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — The Algerian government today released the 12 Israeli crewmen and passengers from an Israeli airliner hijacked and diverted to Algiers five weeks ago, the Israeli Foreign Ministry announced.

They were placed on a plane and flown to Rome.

A spokesman said the Italian government had informed the Israeli Embassy in Rome of the release.

He said he had no information about the release of the plane.

Israel has been pressing for the release of the plane since it was hijacked by armed Palestinians shortly after it took off from Rome headed for Tel Aviv five weeks ago.

Women and children passengers and the stewardesses were flown to Geneva a few days after the hijacking. Only the men and the plane were held.

Wallace Aides Eye Court For Ballot Place

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Backers of third party presidential candidate George C. Wallace will turn to the U.S. Supreme Court in their efforts to get the former Alabama governor's name on Ohio's November election ballot.

The move follows a three-judge federal court ruling which denied Wallace a spot on the ballot but ordered the state to provide space for write-in votes.

Wallace spokesmen said Friday an appeal will be filed in the Supreme Court next week, probably on Tuesday.

The federal court in ordering the state to make provisions for write - ins, voided certain sections of Ohio election laws which had forbidden write - ins during general elections.

In announcing plans to go to the Supreme Court, Wallace's attorneys noted that all three federal judges had concurred in declaring that Ohio election statutes relating to third party and independent candidates are unreasonably difficult to comply with and unconstitutional.

To Run Campaign, Head Democrats

Humphrey Picks O'Brien For Dual Roles In Party

CHICAGO (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has broken with tradition by naming Lawrence O'Brien to both run his campaign for the presidency and at the same time head the Democratic party organization.

In a move to assert his control over the party, Humphrey Friday removed John M. Bailey of Connecticut as chairman of the Democratic National Committee and replaced him with O'Brien, a top aide to President John F. Kennedy and postmaster general under President Johnson.

Humphrey then broke with tradition by naming the 51-year-old O'Brien as his campaign manager against GOP challenger Richard M. Nixon. The vice president thus ended what has become an often disruptive split between the presidential candidate and the party organization.

To make sure there was no doubt, Humphrey emphatically told reporters that O'Brien would be in full command of his campaign, and the Democratic party organization.

O'Brien, who engineered President Kennedy's legislative program through Congress, accepted the dual position under Humphrey only after the vice president moved to help him keep lines out to private industry for after the campaign.

Humphrey talked to representatives of three industrial firms and assured them that O'Brien would be available to consider job offers after the presidential campaign.

Neither Humphrey nor O'Brien would say what firms were involved.

The National Committee quickly and unanimously accepted Humphrey's designation of O'Brien as its chairman. The committee members cheered the vice president's announcement that O'Brien would also be running the campaign.

Their cheering was a little less enthusiastic when Humphrey told them that while the National Committee stands ready to help with money whenever it can, the first responsibility for keeping the party solvent should be at the state and local level.

With unity the watchword after a shrill and devisive convention in this guarded city, the committee soon found itself in a brief squabble over who will be the committee representatives from Georgia.

That reflected the credentials battle at the convention between the regulars appointed by Gov. Lester Maddox and challengers led by the black state legislator, Julian Bond. The convention resolved the dispute by seating half of each delegation.

The committee put off the matter by referring the question to a special subcommittee, meanwhile seating the two regular representatives until the committee reports.

To undersand the effect of yeast on a sewage system, it must be clearly understood that THE ENZYMES IN YEAST WILL ONLY WORK ON STARCHES AND SUGARS. In the early part of this century, home baking and canning contributed greatly to the starch and sugar content of sewage waste, and the addition of yeast was of some definite advantage. Turning to the Czechoslovakian situation, he said "I tell you that it was with a heavy heart that I have closely followed and observed the events in Czechoslovakia over the past several days. It is clear to me that the leaders in Moscow have felt that their interests were threatened by the emergency of even modest degrees of national independence and human liberty in Eastern Europe."

the remaining days of my public service," he said.

Turning to the Czechoslovakian situation, he said "I tell you that it was with a heavy heart that I have closely followed and observed the events in Czechoslovakia over the past several days. It is clear to me that the leaders in Moscow have felt that their interests were threatened by the emergency of even modest degrees of national independence and human liberty in Eastern Europe."

In another strong passage, he said: "So, let no one unleash the dogs of war. Let no one even in this period of highly charged domestic debate in our country even doubt what the true views of the American people are on these matters."

The President said, "I ask all Americans to give me your voices and give us your hopes" so the world will see a united country ready to hold its hand out in friendship but with "the courage and the fortitude to hold up its guard and protect the liberties that our forefathers and our sons tonight are dying for."

Before departing from his prepared text, Johnson told his audience, "A great deal of my personal efforts this autumn will be devoted to placing the president in the years ahead in the strongest possible position."

He said he would devote all his strength to seek national unity, win a Vietnam peace and promote a vigorous economy to pass on to his successor.

Humphrey Arrives Home Amidst Cheers, Heckling

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey, Minnesota's first major party presidential nominee, arrived home to a mixed greeting of cheers from supporters and heckling from antiwar demonstrators.

Humphrey, fresh from his first-ballot nomination at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago, and his running mate, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, flew into Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport Friday night, en route to a weekend of rest at the vice president's lakeshore home in nearby Waverly.

About 250 persons, divided about evenly between Humphrey supporters and backers of his defeated presidential rival, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, also of Minnesota, were on hand to greet them.

Humphrey's arrival time had been advertised in local newspapers, and aides attributed the slim turnout to a plane crash several hours earlier which had blocked the main highway leading to the airport.

The mixed reception was similar to many of those Humphrey received in the preconvention campaign. And the tenor of the crowd indicated that Humphrey's appeals for party unity delivered at the convention and at Friday's meeting of the Democratic National Committee had made little impact on those who had backed McCarthy and opposed the Democratic party position on Vietnam.

"We want Gene!" they shouted as Humphrey worked his way along the airport fence shaking hands. These chants, and others of "Stop the war" frequently drowned out the "We want Hubert" cries from the vice president's supporters.

And there were as many critical signs, such as one reading "The choice of the party bosses not the people," as well as the pro-Humphrey signs reading, "Go, go Horatio," a reference to Humphrey's middle name.

Showing uncharacteristic reticence, the vice president passed up the usual "it's good to be home" speech in favor of the short round of handshakes. He introduced Muskie to some of his greeters, and the 6-foot-5 senator stayed right at his heels, joining in the handshaking and patting a couple of female cheeks.

As Humphrey stepped off his plane, a four-man band played Humphrey's campaign song, "Let a Winner Lead the Way," while five Humphrey girls in red, white and blue dresses serenaded the candidates.

No one was injured in a minor collision between a city bus and a car at 7:30 a. m. today at the intersection of Broadway and E. 5th St.

The drivers were Gary Lee Sarver, 30, of Cleveland and Andrew H. Holtz, 57, of 201 Baum St., operating the Tri - State Transit Co. bus.

Sarver told Patrolman B. L. Conkle he thought there were two lanes headed south on Broadway and pulled to the right side of the bus. When the bus pulled ahead after waiting for a traffic light, it hit the side of the car door.

A car apparently drifted from a parking spot during the night, damaging another vehicle parked in front on Orchard Grove Ave. about 100 feet west of Anderson Blvd.

The cars are owned by Virgina Price of 930 Orchard Grove and Anthony J. Lascola of 923 Phoenix Ave., Chester.

The Lascola car apparently drifted, damaging the left rear fender, trunk lid and taillight. The Lascola car was damaged on the right front fender, headlight and bumper.

The Soviet press labeled the reports as provocation.

But Romanian military and internal security precautions, set up after the Soviet Union, Poland, East Germany, Hungary and Bulgaria invaded Czechoslovakia on Aug. 20, remain in effect.

Informed sources said the Romanian army was maintaining a state of semialert with all reserve officers and 60 per cent of reserve enlisted personnel on active duty.

Other Side Of The Story

There are always two sides to every argument, and so it was with the pitched battle between Chicago police and demonstrators.

Critics of the police angrily shed tears for the demonstrators who were clubbed.

There were injured policemen, too, and it would seem logical to assume that they did not club each other.

Frank Sullivan, public information director for the police department has issued a vehement rebuttal to the critics.

"I deny there was a pattern of too much force used by the police," he said. "But there was a pattern of attacks by this pitiful group of revolutionaries. There will be a pattern of law enforcement."

He was particularly critical of CBS and NBC television networks for what he labeled "a pattern of taking a very prejudiced view of law enforcement."

MR. SULLIVAN'S statement takes on authenticity with TV viewers who saw police handing out printed handbills to the demonstrators gathered in Chicago's Grant Park. They had been given permission to congregate in the park, but the handbills purportedly warned them that they would not be permitted to march on the hotels or convention hall.

TV viewers saw police swinging clubs. But they saw, too, the issuance of printed warnings as to what demonstrators could and could not do within the law.

"About 50 hard-core members of the crowd," Mr. Sullivan said, "charged police lines (stretched across Michigan Ave). People were clubbed, people were hurt, people were arrested. This is what happens when you charge a police line. . . . The laws of the City of Chicago were upheld and the laws will be upheld."

CALMER CITIZENS cannot escape the conclusion that television newsmen have not yet learned how to handle their valuable tools responsibly. There have been hundreds of occasions where television cameras are sent out to film a "demonstration" about which the TV people have been informed in advance.

The demonstrators, in brief, put on a show for the cameras—and the viewers. Their actions are rigged like actors on a stage. And, unfortunately, TV people still are falling for it.

This country needs law enforcement. It needs policemen to perform the task. There is no doubt that some policemen may get carried away with the violence and using clubs where they might not be needed.

But, as Mr. Sullivan says, when a crowd, warned in advance as to what the rules are, charges a police line, the police are going to do their jobs.

'Red Badge Of Courage'

Assassination, the cold-blooded weapon of hate, has been used again to snuff out the life of a distinguished American, Ambassador John Mein of Guatemala, which has been the American career diplomats home away from home the last 13 years. Guatemala has instituted a 30-day state of seige while pressing its search for the killers.

And President Julio Cesar Mendez Montenegro, in proclaiming three days of mourning, has described the ambassador as a "sincere friend of Guatemala."

ALTHOUGH THE ASSASSINS apparently made good their escape and there are no facts, as yet, to identify them, it is a good assumption that they are members of one of the rival extremist factions in Guatemala.

Either the extreme rightists or leftists are capable of committing such acts and have done so in Guatemala. But it seems more logical to believe that the Castro-directed leftists machine-gunned the ambassador to death.

It was leftists who killed two American diplomats, Capt. Ernest A. Monroe and Col. John Daniel Webber last Jan. 16 just a few blocks from where the ambassador was slain.

Ambassador Mein was the highest ranking American, the very symbol of America, in Guatemala. He thus would be an obvious target for those who hate America so much that they strike out viciously to hurt her in whatever way they can.

It is very important that the Guatemalan government find out who the assassins are and identify them before the world.

For if such killers are allowed to make the slaying of American officials a routine event, the United States will be forced to consider withdrawing diplomatic representation in the picturesque Central American nation.

NOTHING WOULD PLEASE THE Castro revolutionists more than to have the "imperialist" Americans abandon Guatemala because it would no longer be safe for our diplomats. This would leave the Cuban Communists and the Guatemalan guerrillas free to plot and advance revolution without the presence of their major opponent.

The red, white and blue American shield is becoming the "red badge of courage" in some areas of the world. The next American ambassador to Guatemala will have to be wearing it.

The Uncounted Bloc Of Votes

In this eventful presidential election year — with all the to-do that is being made about getting registered to vote — it is logical to assume most eligible voters would be ready to exercise their voting privilege.

It may be logical, but according to a Gallup Poll, it is not true.

A mid-August sampling turned up the surprising figure of 29 million people of voting age still unregistered.

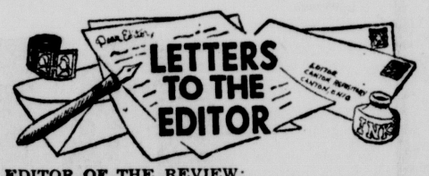
The poll gave the Republicans the best record with only 16 per cent unregistered. Democrats not yet registered totaled 24 per cent and a full one-third of the "independent" voters have failed to register so far.

Of the major groups that make up the population, voters between 21 and 29 years of age have the worst registration record. Nearly half (49 per cent) of the group are unregistered.

According to the survey, next to the young adult group, the poorest registration record goes to Negroes. Of those polled, four out of 10 said they were unregistered.

Registration is useless unless a citizen casts his ballot in November and that is where the interest in those 29 million votes centers.

In 1960, the difference in the popular vote was 118,550 and in the 1964 Johnson landslide it amounted 15,949,707 — which is still some 13 million less than the unregistered total.



EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Concerning the Chester Bridge barriers that have been in the news from time to time, I wonder if the state highway people have considered installing a stop light at both barriers and an appropriate sign asking all motorists to be sure they are within the height limits?

This could be the answer to the problem of property loss and—more important—may save a life.

The Decision On Fortas

Editorial Research Report

The Senate, in the postconvention sessions, faces a grave constitutional problem involving the separation of the judiciary and the legislature. Present indications are that the question will be swept under the rug.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Aug. 21 he hoped to bring to the Senate floor President Johnson's nomination of Justice Abe Fortas as chief justice of the United States and federal judge Homer Thornberry as a justice of the Supreme Court. But he said debate on the issue might be deferred until after election day.

The Senate minority leader, Everett McKinley Dirksen, as early as July 2 had said a majority of Senate Republicans favored confirmation. But hearings of the Senate Judiciary Committee went on through July 23, and the nominations were carried over until after the conventions.

FORTAS IN PARTICULAR was subjected to an unusually severe inquisition at the committee hearings. At one point Sen. Strom Thurmond, South Carolina Republican, referred to the Supreme Court decision in Mallory v. U.S. (1957), which held that unusual delay in arraigning a federal prisoner vitiated his interim confession to police. The case was decided eight years before Justice Fortas joined the Supreme Court.

"Why did he go free?" Thurmond asked. "Do you believe in that kind of justice? Mallory, Mallory, I want that word to ring in your ears. He raped a woman and confessed it in court and the Supreme Court turned him loose on a technicality — free to commit other crimes. Can you condone such a decision? I ask you to answer this question."

Justice Fortas refused to answer. Fortas all along had contended that constitutional doctrine of separation of powers and his duty to remain uncommitted on issues that might come before the Supreme Court prevented him from answering questions.

The clout in the opposition to Fortas, however, was delivered by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., North Carolina Democrat. Ervin conducted a lengthy interrogation of Justice Fortas about specific Supreme Court decisions. Justice Fortas declined to answer.

Sen. Ervin also asked the justice about advice given to President Johnson and about intervening with Ralph Lazarus, president of Federated Department Stores Inc., on the businessman's criticism of the Vietnam budget.

Justice Fortas cited several occasions, beginning with George Washington, when a president had asked the advice of a member of the Supreme Court.

AS FOR THE LAZARUS, incident, he said: "I am a justice of the Supreme Court but I am still a citizen."

July 23 Ervin urged adoption of an amendment to the Constitution requiring the president to select nominees to the Supreme Court from a list drawn up by a conference of the chief judges of the states and the chief judges of the Circuit Courts of Appeal.

After the hearings, Sen. Ervin sent a letter to the Washington Post, which had criticized him severely, in which he wrote: "If its words have no fixed meaning, the Constitution is indeed a 'solemn mockery' and furnishes 'no rule for the government' of Supreme Court justices."

To which Thurman Arnold, former law partner of Justice Fortas, replied in another letter to the Post:

"The danger represented by Sen. Ervin and his collaborators . . . is that a small minority, by the use of filibuster tactics, may impair the independence of the judiciary and influence the course of judicial decisions in the United States."

Bowing Down To The New Idol

VICTOR RIESEL

Reuther Led Kennedy Boom

CHICAGO: — Behind the Ted Kennedy "draft" were some of Walter Reuther's strategically deployed forces. Actually the redheaded auto union chief was booming the junior senator for President — in 1972.

Victor Riesel

Unknown to the frenzied crowds, unnoticed even by the press and the pros, this was the decade-old Reuther-Kennedy combine in action.

When the Kennedy clan drum beat began booming in the Palmer House last Sunday night, the drive for the third Kennedy had been all pressed up (the propaganda was rolling), but had no place to go. It needed a headquarters — something frenetic, something fresh something untouched except by youthful hands.

Within a few hours the boom was fully housed in the Bal Tabarin Suite, on the sixth floor of the Sherman House, which comes with built-in frenetics.

The logistics had been supplied by an anonymous Reuther regional aide one Paul Korman, staffer for the big UAW Region 4, which did so much for the late Bob Kennedy during the primary heats.

WITH WALTER REUTHER ensconced in the Sheraton-Chicago tower suite practically down the street, no regional staffman would move in on tense make-or-break naponal politics without the leader's permission. Especially since Reuther had been pushing hard for Hubert Humphrey, to the point of calling in union convention delegates and ordering them to jump off the McCarthy wagon immediately.

Reuther, along with George Meany and Hubert Humphrey, were three men on a horse. But that did not keep the Detroiter from throwing support to "young Ted." Another day, another campaign. By sheer reflex the auto union leader always looks years ahead. Ted Kennedy had been made to order. What mattered now the cost of a few buttons, balloons, pamphlets, hand-lettered signs, and office space. Some auto union delegates were already quartered at the Sherman House anyway.

Soon other auto union officials, such as Bob Kennedy's young friend, California's Paul Schrade, who were convention delegates, pinned "Draft Kennedy" slogans atop their McCarthy buttons and began booming it up for "Ted" on the floor.

The strategy was simple. If nothing happened, Reuther lost no Humphrey friends. He could blame the Kennedy sentiment on his younger, more impetuous staffmen. If a miracle was injured, it would come with a UAW label.

After all, Reuther was, except for some California grape-picking delegates, Ted Kennedy's only labor support.

The union establishment over at the Hotel Drake had let it be known to Ted's brother-in-law, Steve Smith, in the Standard Club, and to Mayor Richard Daley, that young Kennedy would have to face a floor fight if he moved. And 1956 was recalled as a warning. At that time, in this city, at the convention which Adlai Stevenson opened up, labor had shoved some steel into Estes Kefauver's backbone, had forced him to unpack his bags and not flee from Jack Kennedy. The latter then lost his vice-presidential fight by 26 votes. Ted Kennedy was told he's too young to take such chances.

MEANWHILE BACK AT THE RANCH, Lyndon Johnson began forming the wagons into a circle. He surrounded the Kennedy forces. Old friend Jack Valetti moved quietly into Hilton suite 22-A. By phone and back stairs he could get to old friends Marvin Watson and Hubert Humphrey on the 25th floor.

Across town at the Hotel Drake's suite 169, President Johnson put his old trouble shooter, big George Ready, a devoted man, far too honest for politics. There Ready unobserved by the media, kept in close touch with the nation's labor leaders on the upper floors.

If manpower was needed, it was in heavy supply. There was, for example, longshoremen's leader Ted Gleason virtually next door to Mr. Humphrey's rooms at the Hilton.

The dockwalloper, as did scores of other labor chiefs, came with publicity men, researchers, statisticians and political muscle.

Wherever President Johnson wanted them, they went. Whenever the Kennedy boom came up for air, they sat on it, balloons and all.

But Walter Reuther played it cool. From his tower suite he could see 1972 — and another convention. By that time the auto union leader would have his new labor federation swinging. He has been seeking a large headquarters in Washington, D. C., and reportedly has decided to purchase a building in the neighborhood of 18th and L Streets. Though in 1972 he will be 65 years old, some of his adversaries will be in their late seventies.

And even during the 1976 election Reuther would still be younger than some of his colleagues are today. And Ted Kennedy will be but 44.

So, for the price of a few balloons and the time of some staffers, Reuther made a political friend here. He who gambles on time builds with sand my friend K. C. Wu once told me in Hong Kong.

But to Reuther and his colleagues it was worth a try. And so Ted Kennedy's boom found a home.

"You can tell what the polls have said about what the people want by listening to what the candidates are promising!"

Remember?

By Noel Grove

There Was A President Atchison

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Consider for a moment the host of candidates for the presidency this year. Discounting the pig placed in nomination by the yippies in Chicago, they number about 10.

Since many of these must have known their chances of winning were only slightly better than the yippie porker, it may be assumed that for some the race is as much the attraction as the prize.

For those, the ultimate envy must be for the man who, by some theories became president of the United States without campaigning a day, spending a dime, or ruffling any feelings within either party. And afterwards, President Atchison served in a period so relaxed and trouble-free that he almost slept through his whole term.

President Atchison?

THE "ONE MORE" president theory is not universally accepted by all students of American political history, but as theory, it does have its historical basis. According to the theory, Sen. David Rice Atchison of Missouri was president for one day—beginning about 1 p.m. Sunday, March 4, 1849.

The terms of President James Polk and his vice president, George M. Dallas, were to end at that time. But the incoming president, Zachary Taylor, was not going to be inaugurated until midday of Monday, March 5, inauguration ceremonies being delayed one day so they wouldn't fall on a Sunday.

That left 24 hours when the country would be without a president. According to the Constitution, the next in line would be the presiding officer of the Senate. Dallas, Polk's VP, had resigned that position, and Atchison had been named temporary presiding officer of the Senate in his place March 2.

So at 1 p.m., March 4, 1849, the nation was without a president, and Atchison was next in line. He was never actually sworn in. But the question around the "other president" theory is whether by simply being next in line in those leaderless hours, he did, in fact, succeed to the office.

ATCHISON himself held no celebration. He was sound asleep when he theoretically became president of the United States, displaying a calmness that makes all other new presidents look like little old ladies with twisted hankies by comparison.

He might have slept all day, having spent a hard night at the Senate the night before, had not some personal friends come to wake and congratulate him.

"In order to do everything in proper style, I appointed a full cabinet," he recalled later, going along with the gag, "and it was said that my administration was the most successful and popular one ever known, there not being a removal or an appointment during my whole term."

Atchison's triumph would have been even sweeter had it gained political legitimacy. Actually it remains merely a footnote of trivia in the history of American presidents, says White House curator Jim Ketchum.

Hardly worth redesignating Lyndon Johnson the 38th President of the United States instead of 37th, and likewise with all the others back down the line through Zachary Taylor.

But what a whale of a cocktail party conversation bit it must have made for a man named Atchison!

WITH WALTER REUTHER ensconced in the Sheraton-Chicago tower suite practically down the street, no regional staffman would move in on tense make-or-break naponal politics without the leader's permission. Especially since Reuther had been pushing hard for Hubert Humphrey, to the point of calling in union convention delegates and ordering them to jump off the McCarthy wagon immediately.

Reuther, along with George Meany and Hubert Humphrey, were three men on a horse. But that did not keep the Detroiter from throwing support to "young Ted." Another day, another campaign. By sheer reflex the auto union leader always looks years ahead. Ted Kennedy had been made to order. What mattered now the cost of a few buttons, balloons, pamphlets, hand-lettered signs, and office space. Some auto union delegates were already quartered at the Sherman House anyway.

Soon other auto union officials, such as Bob Kennedy's young friend, California's Paul Schrade, who were convention delegates, pinned "Draft Kennedy" slogans atop their McCarthy buttons and began booming it up for "Ted" on the floor.

The strategy was simple. If nothing happened, Reuther lost no Humphrey friends. He could blame the Kennedy sentiment on his younger, more impetuous staffmen. If a miracle was injured, it would come with a UAW label.

After all, Reuther was, except for some California grape-picking delegates, Ted Kennedy's only labor support.

The union establishment over at the Hotel Drake had let it be known to Ted's brother-in-law, Steve Smith, in the Standard Club, and to Mayor Richard Daley, that young Kennedy would have to face a floor fight if he moved. And 1956 was recalled as a warning. At that time, in this city, at the convention which Adlai Stevenson opened up, labor had shoved some steel into Estes Kefauver's backbone, had forced him to unpack his bags and not flee from Jack Kennedy. The latter then lost his vice-presidential fight by 26 votes. Ted Kennedy was told he's too young to take such chances.

MEANWHILE BACK AT THE RANCH, Lyndon Johnson began forming the wagons into a circle. He surrounded the Kennedy forces. Old friend Jack Valetti moved quietly into Hilton suite 22-A. By phone and back stairs he could get to old friends Marvin Watson and Hubert Humphrey on the 25th floor.

Across town at the Hotel Drake's suite 169, President Johnson put his old trouble shooter, big George Ready, a devoted man, far too honest for politics. There Ready unobserved by the media, kept in close touch with the nation's labor leaders on the upper floors.

If manpower was needed, it was in heavy supply. There was, for example, longshoremen's leader Ted Gleason virtually next door to Mr. Humphrey's rooms at the Hilton.

The dockwalloper, as did scores of other labor chiefs, came with publicity men, researchers, statisticians and political muscle.

Wherever President Johnson wanted them, they went. Whenever the Kennedy boom came up for air, they sat on it, balloons and all.

But Walter Reuther played it cool. From his tower suite he could see 1972 — and another convention. By that time the auto union leader would have his new labor federation swinging. He has been seeking a large headquarters in Washington, D. C., and reportedly has decided to purchase a building in the neighborhood of 18th and L Streets. Though in 1972 he will be 65 years old, some of his adversaries will be in their late seventies.

And even during the 1976 election Reuther would still be younger than some of his colleagues are today. And Ted Kennedy will be but 44.

So, for the price of a few balloons and the time of some staffers, Reuther made a political friend here. He who gambles on time builds with sand my friend K. C. Wu once told me in Hong Kong.

But to Reuther and his colleagues it was worth a try. And so Ted Kennedy's boom found a home.

"You can tell what the polls have said about what the people want by listening to what the candidates are promising!"

Remember?

By Noel Grove

There Was A President Atchison

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Consider for a moment the host of candidates for the presidency this year. Discounting the pig placed in nomination by the yippies in Chicago, they number about 10.

Since many of these must have known their chances of winning were only slightly better than the yippie porker, it may be assumed that for some the race is as much the attraction as the prize.

For those, the ultimate envy must be for the man who, by some theories became president of the United States without campaigning a day, spending a dime, or ruffling any feelings within either party. And afterwards, President Atchison served in a period so relaxed and trouble-free that he almost slept through his whole term.

President Atchison?

THE "ONE MORE" president theory is not universally accepted by all students of American political history, but as theory, it does have its historical basis. According to the theory, Sen. David Rice Atchison of Missouri was president for one day—beginning about 1 p.m. Sunday, March 4, 1849.

The terms of President James Polk and his vice president, George M. Dallas, were to end at that time. But the incoming president, Zachary Taylor, was not going to be inaugurated until midday of Monday, March 5, inauguration ceremonies being delayed one day so they wouldn't fall on a Sunday.

That left 24 hours when the country would be without a president. According to the Constitution, the next in line would be the presiding officer of the Senate. Dallas, Polk's VP, had resigned that position, and Atchison had been named temporary presiding officer of the Senate in his place March 2.

So at 1 p.m., March 4, 1849, the nation was without a president, and Atchison was next in line. He was never actually sworn in. But the question around the "other president" theory is whether by simply being next in line in those leaderless hours, he did, in fact, succeed to the office.

ATCHISON himself held no celebration. He was sound asleep when he theoretically became president of the United States, displaying a calmness that makes all other new presidents look like little old ladies with twisted hankies by comparison.

He might have slept all day, having spent a hard night at the Senate the night before, had not some personal friends come to wake and congratulate him.

"In order to do everything in proper style, I appointed a full cabinet," he recalled later, going along with the gag, "and it was said that my administration was the most successful and popular one ever known, there not being a removal or an appointment during my whole term."

Atchison's triumph would have been even sweeter had it gained political legitimacy. Actually it remains merely a footnote of trivia in the history of American presidents, says White House curator Jim Ketchum.

Hardly worth redesignating Lyndon Johnson the 38th President of the United States instead of 37th, and likewise with all the others back down the line through Zachary Taylor.

But what a whale of a cocktail party conversation bit it must have made for a man named Atchison!

Talman, DA Of 'Mason' Show, Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — As the brow-beaten district attorney on television's "Perry Mason" show, actor William Talman was the nation's best known loser.

Talman, who played Dist. Atty. Hamilton Burger, began losing his case the minute he walked into a courtroom with Perry Mason—week after week, for nine years.

Talman began to feel as hapless as Burger. Then, he said, "I found that the best way to deal with Burger's astonishing proclivity for absorbing punishment was to develop a sense of pride in the consistency of his endeavors.

"If you can't win for losing, okay, learn to love that losing streak."

If he lost every case, Talman —as Burger—won the sympathy and following of his viewers.

Talman, 53, died Friday. He had been under treatment for lung cancer since last September, but death was attributed to cardiac arrest. In the hospital in Encino with him were his wife Margaret and their four children.

Before the Mason series, Talman was known in Hollywood as a supporting actor who had won an Academy Award nomination for his role in "The Hitchhiker." He played heavies, villains and sometimes leading men, appearing in such films as "One Minute to Zero," "Red, Hot and Blue," "I Married a Communist," and "The Kid from Texas."

Talman, born in Detroit, tried his theatrical talent at Dartmouth College. Then he went to New York, working as a salesman, clerk, bookkeeper and tennis pro to support himself.

On Broadway he appeared in "Of Mice and Men." He served in the Army, writing and directing Army theatricals. Then in 1949 he came to Hollywood.

His role in the "Perry Mason" show, starting in 1957, was the crowning achievement of his career and made his face familiar to television audiences. He said he never tired of losing cases to co-star Raymond Burr.

2-Car Crash Injures Four

Four Pennsylvanians were injured in a two-car collision at midnight on Route 30 near the Pennsylvania state line.

Leo Zech, 62, of Pittsburgh and his passenger, Andrew Merman 58, also of Pittsburgh are "fair" at City Hospital from injuries received in the mishap.

Milton Beers, Jr., 18, of Aliquippa, driver of the other vehicle, and his passenger, Houston Howell, 18, also of Aliquippa, were treated at the hospital.

Zech suffered contusions of the chest, abrasions of the left wrist and right hand, while Merman had multiple superficial lacerations of the forehead, face, scalp and a possible injury of the left arm.

Beers was treated for lacerations of the nose and contusions and abrasions of the chest, while Howell received abrasions of the right side of his forehead and right lower leg.

The Hancock County sheriff's office investigated and reported that Beers stated he was traveling east on Route 30, went off the right side of the road, lost control and came back onto the road crossing the center line and smashed headon into Zech's vehicle.

Beers was charged with failure to have his vehicle under control. Damage to his car was estimated at $1,700 and to Zech's $700.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I prevent ice crystals from forming on top of my ice cream when I make it in my refrigerator?

A. — Wrap your tray in waxed paper as soon as the ice cream is frozen, and lower the temperature control. Beating the ice cream thoroughly several times while it is freezing gives it a finer texture, too.

Q. —How can I remove chocolate stains from fabrics?

A. — By applying a paste made of cold water and borax. My new household - hints book contains numerous remedies for spots and stains of all kinds.

Q. —What is a quick and easy way of dealing with spilled grease on a wood floor?

A. — Immediately place an ice cube on the spot, and the grease will congeal so fast that it can be picked up and will not soak into the floor.

Q. — How can I prevent any danger of my steam iron's rusting on the bottom?

A. — Every time you finish ironing, and while the iron is warm, set it on several folds of waxed paper (a bread wrapper will do), and let it cool. When the iron is heated the next time, the wax paper loosens and comes off.

Eisenhower Permitted To Read In Bed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has rebounded from his seventh heart attack and is now well enough to read in bed.

In reporting this recreational step forward, Eisenhower's doctors said Friday the 77-year-old general's spirits are "excellent."

This, too, represented further encouragement since earlier reports have been limited to describing Eisenhower's morale as "remarkably good" or to saying he was "cheerful."

Doctors said Eisenhower is now permitted "light reading." Earlier, he was allowed to listen to light background music in his Walter Reed Army Hospital suite.

Eisenhower suffered his seventh attack since 1955 on Aug. 16. It was his third attack since entering the hospital in May, but he appeared to recover more slowly this time remaining on the critical list well past the usual one week period.

He was taken off the critical list Wednesday.

Talman, DA Of 'Mason' Show, Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — As the brow-beaten district attorney on television's "Perry Mason" show, actor William Talman was the nation's best known loser.

Talman, who played Dist. Atty. Hamilton Burger, began losing his case the minute he walked into a courtroom with Perry Mason—week after week, for nine years.

Talman began to feel as hapless as Burger. Then, he said, "I found that the best way to deal with Burger's astonishing proclivity for absorbing punishment was to develop a sense of pride in the consistency of his endeavors.

"If you can't win for losing, okay, learn to love that losing streak."

If he lost every case, Talman —as Burger—won the sympathy and following of his viewers.

Talman, 53, died Friday. He had been under treatment for lung cancer since last September, but death was attributed to cardiac arrest. In the hospital in Encino with him were his wife Margaret and their four children.

Before the Mason series, Talman was known in Hollywood as a supporting actor who had won an Academy Award nomination for his role in "The Hitchhiker." He played heavies, villains and sometimes leading men, appearing in such films as "One Minute to Zero," "Red, Hot and Blue," "I Married a Communist," and "The Kid from Texas."

Talman, born in Detroit, tried his theatrical talent at Dartmouth College. Then he went to New York, working as a salesman, clerk, bookkeeper and tennis pro to support himself.

On Broadway he appeared in "Of Mice and Men." He served in the Army, writing and directing Army theatricals. Then in 1949 he came to Hollywood.

His role in the "Perry Mason" show, starting in 1957, was the crowning achievement of his career and made his face familiar to television audiences. He said he never tired of losing cases to co-star Raymond Burr.

2-Car Crash Injures Four

Four Pennsylvanians were injured in a two-car collision at midnight on Route 30 near the Pennsylvania state line.

Leo Zech, 62, of Pittsburgh and his passenger, Andrew Merman 58, also of Pittsburgh are "fair" at City Hospital from injuries received in the mishap.

Milton Beers, Jr., 18, of Aliquippa, driver of the other vehicle, and his passenger, Houston Howell, 18, also of Aliquippa, were treated at the hospital.

Zech suffered contusions of the chest, abrasions of the left wrist and right hand, while Merman had multiple superficial lacerations of the forehead, face, scalp and a possible injury of the left arm.

Beers was treated for lacerations of the nose and contusions and abrasions of the chest, while Howell received abrasions of the right side of his forehead and right lower leg.

The Hancock County sheriff's office investigated and reported that Beers stated he was traveling east on Route 30, went off the right side of the road, lost control and came back onto the road crossing the center line and smashed headon into Zech's vehicle.

Beers was charged with failure to have his vehicle under control. Damage to his car was estimated at $1,700 and to Zech's $700.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I prevent ice crystals from forming on top of my ice cream when I make it in my refrigerator?

A. — Wrap your tray in waxed paper as soon as the ice cream is frozen, and lower the temperature control. Beating the ice cream thoroughly several times while it is freezing gives it a finer texture, too.

Q. —How can I remove chocolate stains from fabrics?

A. — By applying a paste made of cold water and borax. My new household - hints book contains numerous remedies for spots and stains of all kinds.

Q. —What is a quick and easy way of dealing with spilled grease on a wood floor?

A. — Immediately place an ice cube on the spot, and the grease will congeal so fast that it can be picked up and will not soak into the floor.

Q. — How can I prevent any danger of my steam iron's rusting on the bottom?

A. — Every time you finish ironing, and while the iron is warm, set it on several folds of waxed paper (a bread wrapper will do), and let it cool. When the iron is heated the next time, the wax paper loosens and comes off.

Eisenhower Permitted To Read In Bed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has rebounded from his seventh heart attack and is now well enough to read in bed.

In reporting this recreational step forward, Eisenhower's doctors said Friday the 77-year-old general's spirits are "excellent."

This, too, represented further encouragement since earlier reports have been limited to describing Eisenhower's morale as "remarkably good" or to saying he was "cheerful."

Doctors said Eisenhower is now permitted "light reading." Earlier, he was allowed to listen to light background music in his Walter Reed Army Hospital suite.

Eisenhower suffered his seventh attack since 1955 on Aug. 16. It was his third attack since entering the hospital in May, but he appeared to recover more slowly this time remaining on the critical list well past the usual one week period.

He was taken off the critical list Wednesday.

Taxi Drivers End Strike In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — A two-week strike that idled most of Chicago's taxicabs during the Democratic National Convention ended Friday night less than 24 hours after the convention adjourned.

A new three-year contract was ratified overwhelmingly by drivers and mechanics for Yellow Cab and Checker Taxi companies. It provides immediate wage increases for all full-time drivers with more than two years service.

Yellow and Checker cabs began returning to the streets within an hour.

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION
PARDON

The greatest problem that faces mankind today is the problem of sin. This problem is our greatest because of the fact that all of us are involved in it. Paul stated that all of us sin and fall short of the glory of God. (Rom. 3:23). It is also our greatest problem because of the fact that it has such far reaching consequence. Sin does not only effect our lives here but it also effects our eternal state. Rom. 6:23. "For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." In view of these facts, all of us should be concerned in pardon from sins. In this article we hope to show some facts that we need to know about pardon.

First, let it be noted that man sinned against the God of Heaven. Thus it is up to God to forgive man. Forgiveness can only take place in the mind of God. No man can forgive another man of his sins! Some seem to think that there are men today who have the right to pronounce a man's sins forgiven. However, this is not man's right. Man does not forgive another man for his sins. Since we have sinned against God it is up to Him to forgive us.

Second, it should be noted that since we sinned against God, it is up to God to lay down the terms of pardon. We must do what God tells us to do to receive pardon. We do not have the right to dictate the terms of pardon. It seems strange that when God lays down the terms of pardon, some men think that they have the right to look them over and determine which ones of the conditions that they will accept. The fact is that if we want pardon, we have no choice but to obey the terms of pardon through His Son. Jesus taught that in order for us to receive pardon, we must believe in Him as the Christ and be baptized. Read this in Mk. 16:16. "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned." If I am really sincere about receiving the forgiveness of my sins, I will happily submit to these conditions. I will believe that Christ is the Son of God. (Jno. 8:24). I will then be baptized for the remission of my sins. (Acts 2:38). It seems rather foolish for man who is guilty of sinning against God to tell God that he will believe that Jesus is the Christ but that he will not be baptized. This is what many have done. They reject the condition that God laid down concerning baptism but still expect God to forgive them. We are pardoned when we believe and are baptized. These are God's terms and we must accept them if we are to be saved. Have you obtained the forgiveness of sins?

50 Join In 'Prayer Retreat' Of Steubenville Presbyterial

Fifty attended the seventh annual "Prayer Retreat" of the Steubenville Presbyterial Tuesday and Wednesday at Beaver Creek Camp.

Carl Mansfield, superintendent of the Community Rescue Mission, was the principal speaker. The first layman to be elected moderator of the Steubenville Presbytery within the last 50 years, he described his work in bringing physical and spiritual aid to the many transients who stop at the mission.

He also reviewed his mission work in the hills of Kentucky at Bethany, where he met his wife, LaVera, who assists him with the local undertaking.

Mrs. Lois Myers, president of the Presbyterial, conducted the sessions based on the theme "Dare To Think." Featured were Bible study periods, discussion groups, vespers, panel discussions and a playlet.

Announcement was made of a workshop for Sunday School teachers Sunday at 2 p. m. at the First Church of Steubenville. Anyone interested in teaching from the grade school classes to the adult level is invited to attend.

The annual "goal sheet" meeting for District 1 will be held Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Madison Church.

The fall meeting of District 1 of the Presbyterial will be held Oct. 17 at the Emmanuel Church.

During the informal period, Mrs. Margie Smith of Wellsville won the "sweat shirt" contest.

The event was climaxed with the annual "Walk To Emmaus," following which the group was dismissed with circle prayer.

The 1969 event will be held Aug. 27-28 at the camp.

290 Women Of 62 Churches Take Part In District Event

About 290 women representing 62 churches attended the officers' training sessions of the Steubenville District United Methodist Church sponsored by the Women's Society of Christian Service at East Fairfield, Richmond, Salineville and Piedmont.

Following the opening hymn and prayer, Mrs. Clyde Hoffman of Mingo Junction and Mrs. Eugene Merkel of Tiltonsville, presented "Dialogue With the Lord," concerning a woman's struggle within herself to try to change the world.

A graphic presentation of the new structure of the WSCS and the officers' responsibilities was illustrated with colorful placards. The attending women assisted the district officers.

Small groups were formed for the consideration of specific areas of work.

Mrs. Francis H. Lang, district president, conducted the portion of the program called "Airing and Sharing," with the audience participating in the discussion.

Suggestions for program planning were offered by Mrs. Hoffman, district vice president.

Mrs. Harry Laber of East Palestine, district chairman of spiritual growth, presented the concluding message.

Curfew At Lima Curbs Violence

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—A curfew clamped on a 15-block section of downtown Lima Friday night apparently prevented recurrence of racial violence in this northcentral Ohio city.

Except for a few small fires, fist fights and other routine trouble calls, police reported the area was relatively quiet during the night.

Mayor Christian P. Morris ordered the 5 p.m. to 8 a.m. curfew after violence Thursday night brought out the city's entire 70-man police force.

The incidents erupted 24 hours after Stanley Lee White, 20-year-old Negro, was shot fatally during a dispute with a tavern proprietor.

The greatest problem that faces mankind today is the problem of sin. This problem is our greatest because of the fact that all of us are involved in it. Ex-Convict Held Without Bond

Kidnaper Made 4 Calls To Get Ransom Deliverer

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — The kidnaper of 4-year-old Stanley Stalford Jr., telephoned four restaurants in the Los Angeles area before he found a man willing to deliver $250,000 ransom.

Before Harold "Red" Tracton agreed, the caller said of the others: "They all said they didn't want to get involved."

A nerve-wracking 36 hours followed for Tracton, 47. The ordeal included 15 hushed phone conversations, the care of a 50-pound satchel containing $250,000 in $20 bills and a lonely drive to the payoff spot with the hope FBI agents were somewhere near, watching.

At the end Robert L. Dacy, 39, an ex-convict, was wounded and captured Friday in a wild auto chase and gun battle, and the frightened boy was returned to his parents.

Dacy, in a hospital with a broken right leg later pleaded innocent to two state counts of kidnaping for ransom. He was ordered held without bond with his preliminary hearing set for Sept. 20 in Municipal Court.

"I took good care of your boy," Dacy told the mother as she arrived at Morningside Hospiatl where doctors were taking seven stitches in Stanley's leg, cut in a traffic collision that ended the long chase.

"I gave him candy and milk."

The youngster still wore the blue bathing suit which he had on Wednesday morning when a man posing as an electrician working next door tied up his mother and kidnaped the boy from the Stalfords' $90,000 home.

As the man demanded, Stalford sent $250,000 ransom for his only child. The kidnaper didn't quite get to it, although Tracton left it minutes before FBI agents arrived and the chase began. The money was recovered.

Wesley G. Grapp, FBI agent in charge, said Dacy "at all times was trying to use the boy as a shield." During the 28-block chase over streets, alleys and parking lots, agents were instructed: "Don't do anything that could endanger the boy."

"We had to be careful with our firing," Grapp said. "They certainly weren't shooting as to endanger the boy." Return gunfire broke the windshield of Grapp's car and hit the right arm of his driver, agent Emmett Doherty.

Grapp then ordered the other car rammed. The FBI car smashed into the other, spinning both out of control. Four agents were needed to subdue Dacy.

Agents refused to say whether the boy had been threatened or —other than bruises or the leg cut—harmed, since this would have a bearing on the penalty if Dacy is convicted.

When the first telephone call from the kidnaper came at his restaurant Tracton said, the man told him: "I've called three other restaurant men and asked them if they'd be the intermediary. They all said they didn't want to get involved."

He didn't say why he wanted a restaurant man involved, Tracton said.

Stalford, board chairman of the $100-million fidelity Bank, and his family had eaten in Tracton's restaurant. But the husky Tracton doesn't know why the kidnaper singled him out as intermediary.

"It's funny," he said after the capture and rescue. "All I could think about was the kid. I never had a fear and, believe me, I'm not a brave fella. I have a daughter, but all I was thinking about was the kid."

Wreck Hurts Motorcyclist

A Coraopolis youth was hospitalized with injuries suffered in one of two accidents in Industry Borough Friday night and early today.

Charles Dewey Shreve, 18, of Sharon Rd., Coraopolis is "satisfactory" at Rochester General Hospital with possible head injuries.

Shreve lost control of his 1966 motorcycle and went off the Industry-Fairview Rd. when blinded by the lights from an oncoming vehicle at 12:15 a. m. today.

The accident occurred west of the Crucible Management Club entrance. He was returning from the Fairview Fair.

Patrolman Roy Hohenshell said the youth was still "groggy" at the scene and he will question him later.

Three cars were involved in a chain reaction collision east of the underpass of the Shippingport Bridge Friday at 11 p.m.

Laverne Miles, 31, of 2nd Ave., Beaver Falls, told police she halted her 1965 convertible when she saw a car coming from the bridge. Her car was struck in the rear by a 1965 sedan operated by John G. Miller Jr., 39, of Turnpike St., Beaver.

In return, Miller was struck in the rear by a 1959 coupe driven by Jack Peck, 60, of 201 Midway Rd., Industry.

Saxbe Turns Down Debate With Gilligan

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—A proposed series of television debates between Republican William B Saxbe and Democrat John J. Gilligan, U.S. Senate candidates, was turned down here today by Saxbe.

Saxbe issued this reply to Gilligan's letter proposing the debates:

"Thank you for your invitation. I am aware such debate would provide considerable entertainment. However, I do not believe there would be a great deal of enlightenment. I will continue to take my views to the people in the shops, factories, streets and homes."

40-Mile Limit Established

LISBON — P. E. Masheter, Ohio Highway Department director, has established a 40-mile-an-hour zone for a 2.8-mile stretch on Columbiana County Rd. 430 (Cannons Mills-Smiths Ferry Rd.).

The 40-mile zone will begin one mile east of County Rd. 425 (old Route 30) and extend east 2.8 miles to a point just east of Park Way.

County Engineer John Ursu said the director's order is in response to an investigation his office made in response to a petition from residents along the road. Ursu had requested a 40-mile zone all the way, from old Route 30 to the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line.

The department's Bureau of Traffic advised Ursu "there is not sufficient justification" for reducing the existing speed limit (60 miles in daylight, 50 at night) for the old Route 30 and State Line ends of the road.

Fred C. Tarbox, bureau engineer, gave the following explanation:

"The Department of Highways is trying to apply speed zones to those sections of highway where their application as a traffic control measure will cause a reduction in existing speeds and where that reduction is necessary to give the driver enough time to recognize and avoid unexpected hazards.

"Roadside developments are one of the primary generators of unexpected situations such as turning or entering vehicles onto the highway. With the absence of heavy roadside development on the contiguous portions (two ends) of County Highway 430, the average motorist would not accept the speed zone and obey the speed limit willingly."

Ursu said the speed limit signs will be installed as soon as possible.

Post Office Schedule Set For Holiday

The usual holiday hours will prevail for the Labor Day weekend, Postmaster Samuel W. Brown has announced.

There will be no city, mounted or rural deliveries on Monday. However, all special delivery and perishable mails will be distributed.

The lobby in the main office downtown will be open from 6 a.m. to 4:45 p.m., Brown said. The Calcutta branch and Station A in East End will be closed the entire day.

Collections will be made under the holiday schedule, with pickups coinciding with the hours on the printed cards at each collection box. Brown said that on Monday the last mail is due to leave East Liverpool at 4:55 p.m. and that all mail, therefore, must be in the main office for processing not later than 4:15 to make the dispatch.

He said calls have been received concerning both veterans' and social security checks.

If the veterans' checks arrive with instructions to be delivered today, the office will do so. However, if they carry a Sept. 1 date of delivery, the office must observe the regulations and the next delivery will not be until Tuesday, Brown pointed out. The same holds true for social security checks, which usually have a date of delivery for the third.

Social Security Aide Speaks At Club's Meeting

John Patti, assistant district manager of the East Liverpool Social Security office, was guest speaker during the meeting of the Chester Kiwanis Club at City Hall.

Patti discussed Social Security and Medicare — reviewing services available to area residents. A portion of Hancock County is served by the local office.

Richard Pillo was program chairman.

Robert Cooley, president, said any member may be contacted for orders of fruitcakes. Proceeds will be used for the youth activities fund.

The 1st District of West Virginia Convention will be held at Wheeling Sept. 20-21.

Alvin Fineman gave the invocation and Lee Adams led group singing. Eighteen attended.

Ex-Convict Held Without Bond

Kidnaper Made 4 Calls To Get Ransom Deliverer

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — The kidnaper of 4-year-old Stanley Stalford Jr., telephoned four restaurants in the Los Angeles area before he found a man willing to deliver $250,000 ransom.

Before Harold "Red" Tracton agreed, the caller said of the others: "They all said they didn't want to get involved."

A nerve-wracking 36 hours followed for Tracton, 47. The ordeal included 15 hushed phone conversations, the care of a 50-pound satchel containing $250,000 in $20 bills and a lonely drive to the payoff spot with the hope FBI agents were somewhere near, watching.

At the end Robert L. Dacy, 39, an ex-convict, was wounded and captured Friday in a wild auto chase and gun battle, and the frightened boy was returned to his parents.

Dacy, in a hospital with a broken right leg later pleaded innocent to two state counts of kidnaping for ransom. He was ordered held without bond with his preliminary hearing set for Sept. 20 in Municipal Court.

"I took good care of your boy," Dacy told the mother as she arrived at Morningside Hospiatl where doctors were taking seven stitches in Stanley's leg, cut in a traffic collision that ended the long chase.

"I gave him candy and milk."

The youngster still wore the blue bathing suit which he had on Wednesday morning when a man posing as an electrician working next door tied up his mother and kidnaped the boy from the Stalfords' $90,000 home.

As the man demanded, Stalford sent $250,000 ransom for his only child. The kidnaper didn't quite get to it, although Tracton left it minutes before FBI agents arrived and the chase began. The money was recovered.

Wesley G. Grapp, FBI agent in charge, said Dacy "at all times was trying to use the boy as a shield." During the 28-block chase over streets, alleys and parking lots, agents were instructed: "Don't do anything that could endanger the boy."

"We had to be careful with our firing," Grapp said. "They certainly weren't shooting as to endanger the boy." Return gunfire broke the windshield of Grapp's car and hit the right arm of his driver, agent Emmett Doherty.

Grapp then ordered the other car rammed. The FBI car smashed into the other, spinning both out of control. Four agents were needed to subdue Dacy.

Agents refused to say whether the boy had been threatened or —other than bruises or the leg cut—harmed, since this would have a bearing on the penalty if Dacy is convicted.

When the first telephone call from the kidnaper came at his restaurant Tracton said, the man told him: "I've called three other restaurant men and asked them if they'd be the intermediary. They all said they didn't want to get involved."

He didn't say why he wanted a restaurant man involved, Tracton said.

Stalford, board chairman of the $100-million fidelity Bank, and his family had eaten in Tracton's restaurant. But the husky Tracton doesn't know why the kidnaper singled him out as intermediary.

"It's funny," he said after the capture and rescue. "All I could think about was the kid. I never had a fear and, believe me, I'm not a brave fella. I have a daughter, but all I was thinking about was the kid."

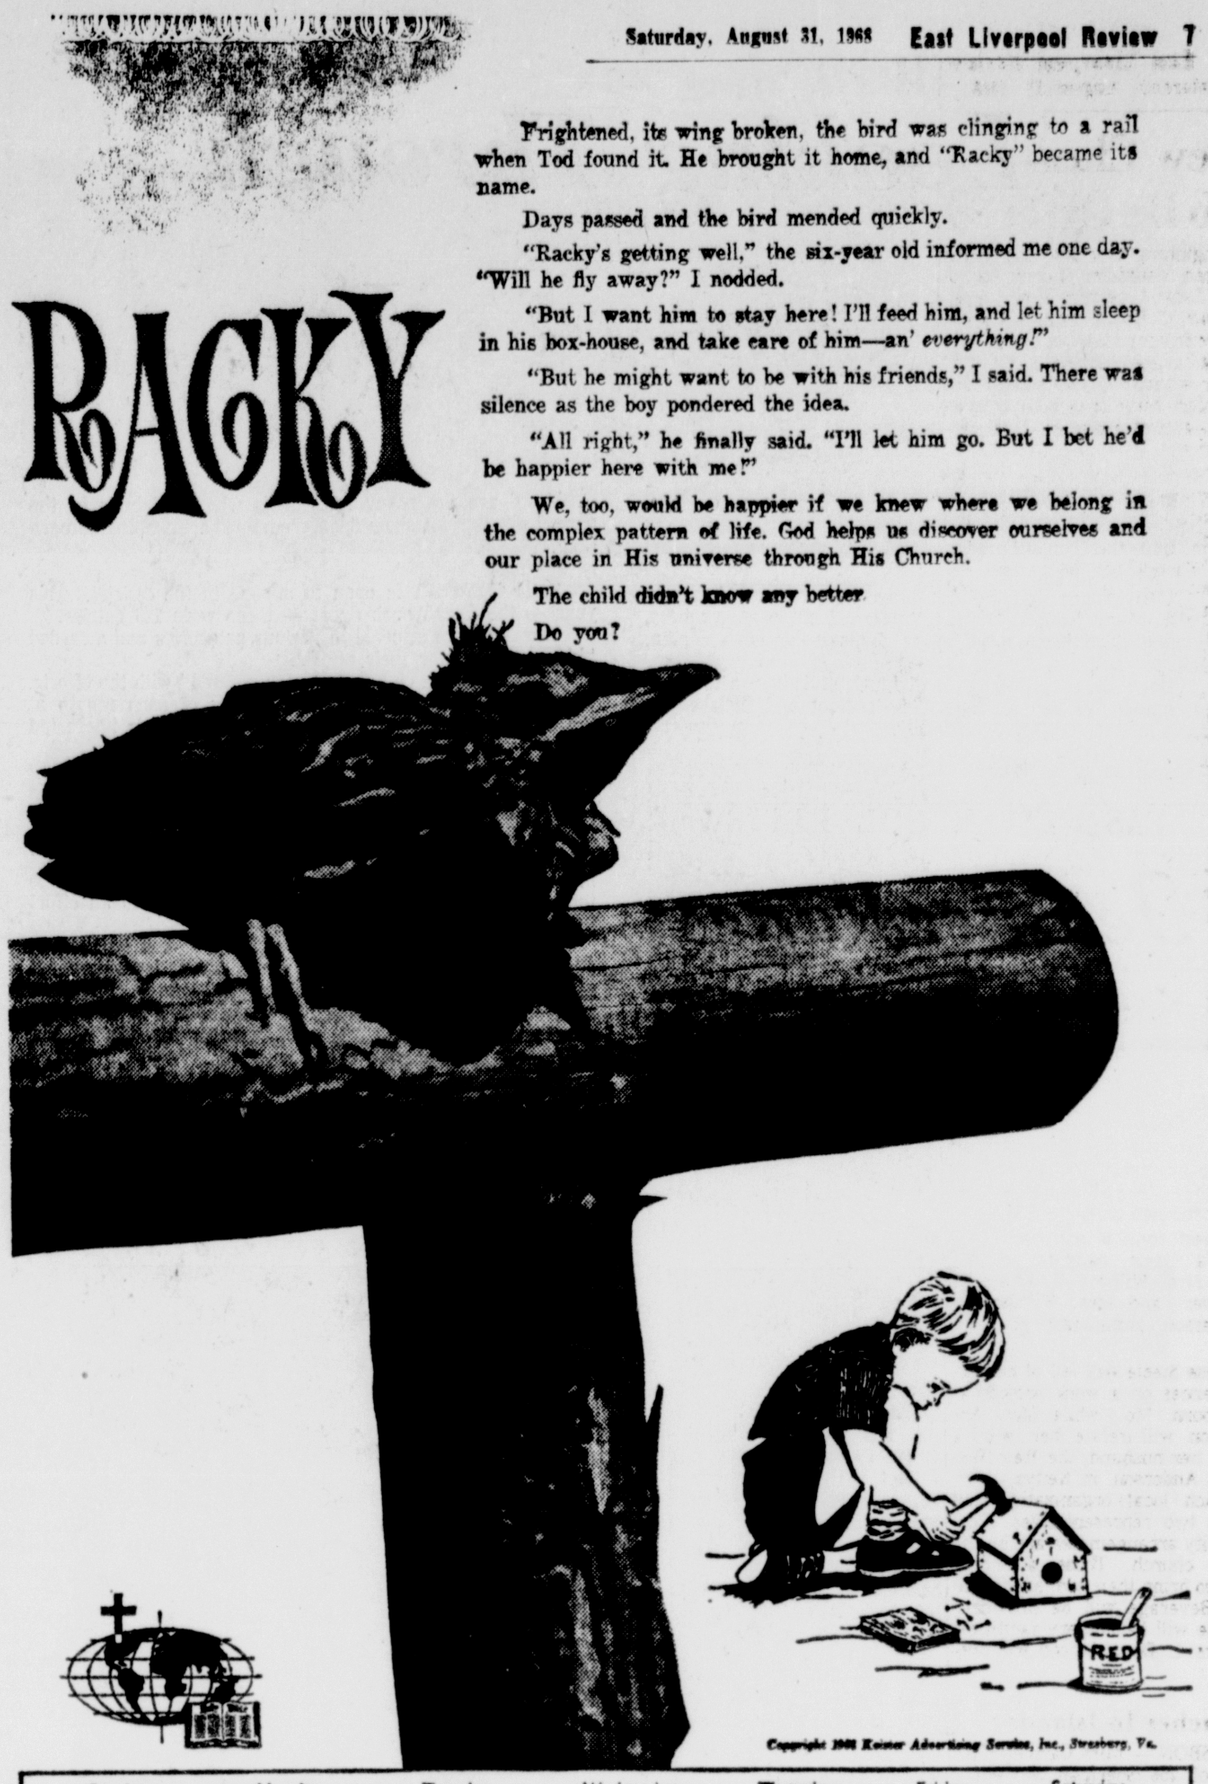
RACKY



Frightened, its wing broken, the bird was clinging to a rail when Tod found it. He brought it home, and "Racky" became its name.

Days passed and the bird mended quickly.

"Racky's getting well," the six-year old informed me one day. "Will he fly away?" I nodded.

"But I want him to stay here! I'll feed him, and let him sleep in his box-house, and take care of him—an' everything!"

"But he might want to be with his friends," I said. There was silence as the boy pondered the idea.

"All right," he finally said. "I'll let him go. But I bet he'd be happier here with me!"

We, too, would be happier if we knew where we belong in the complex pattern of life. God helps us discover ourselves and our place in His universe through His Church.

The child didn't know any better.

Looking Through A Camera's Eye

Since the invention of the simple camera years ago, photographers have been merrily "clicking away," registering on film the scenes around them for their own personal pleasure and posterity.

Photography has become important to our everyday lives. Many persons become "professional" photographers, earning their income by taking pictures for news media, industry and for families.

However, the average individual still has a strange fascination for this mechanical instrument and finds enjoyment in photography as a hobby.

Proof are the many individuals who participate in the annual photograph show sponsored by the Tri-State Camera Club.

THE CONTEST is open to anyone in the district. This year — the fourth such event — there were 125 entries.

Winners were selected in various categories and awarded "blue ribbons" for their efforts.

Officials of the club were "very pleased" with the efforts. The club, which meets the first Friday of each month at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. building in Glenmoor, is interested in promoting photography.

ALL MEMBERS ARE NOT professionals, but are joined by their common interest. The membership stands at 35 and is open to the general public.

The only qualification for membership is an "interest" in photography. Beginners are welcomed and the knowledge that the "oldtimers" have is imparted to them in an effort to improve their work.

Discussions are held on techniques that can be used in all phases, including darkroom work. There is a continual search for new ways to take or develop pictures. Members also make field trips and establish assignments to help each member improve, regardless of whether he has a box camera or an expensive camera.

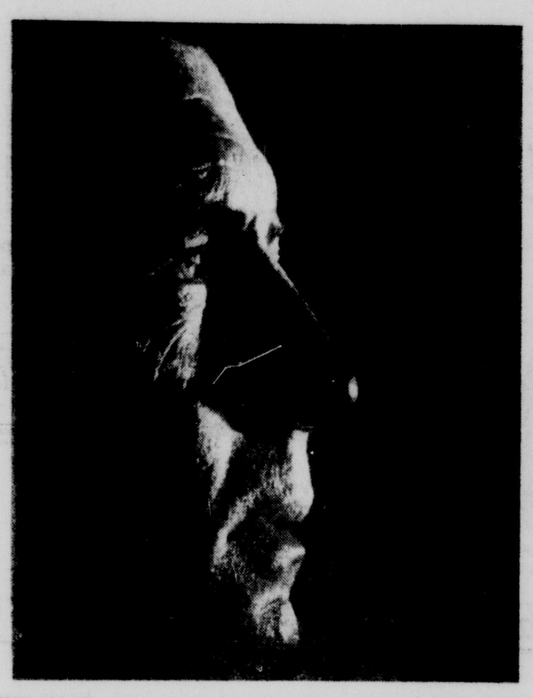
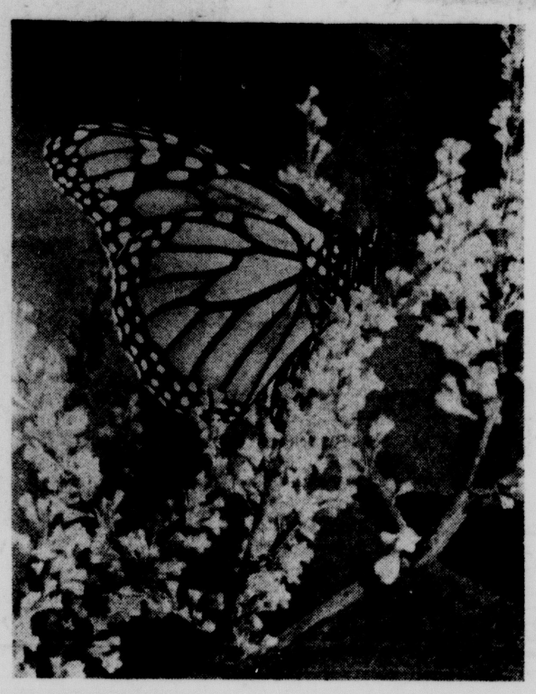
BEST OF SHOW. Fred Fischer of Oakmont took top show honors with his photograph of weather-worn wood after winning a first-place blue ribbon in the open category of the photography contest. Each first-place winner's photo was entered in competition for the "best of the show." Fred used a 35-millimeter camera. The enlargment was "toned" brown.



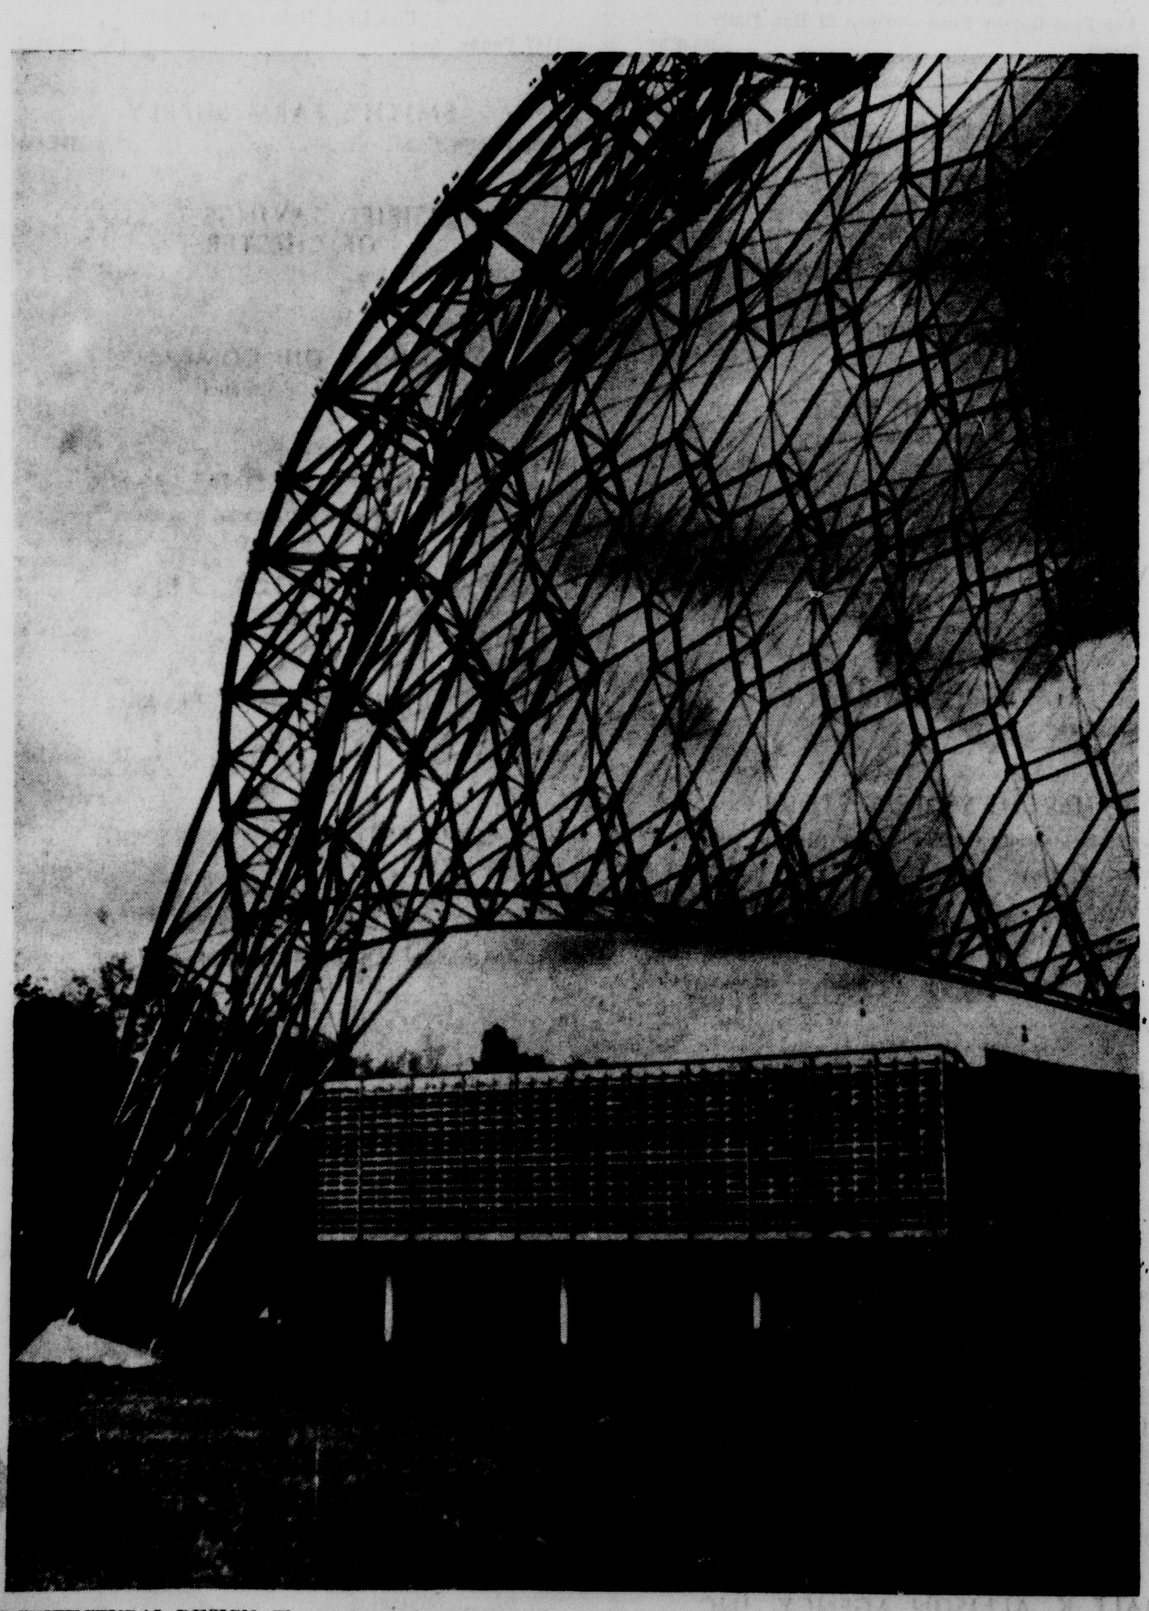
THE FACE. Intense black and white highlighted this facial picture taken by Don Smith of Carolina Ave. who used homemade lights of tin cans. Don's father, Harry Smith, was the subject. Don also used an old rug to darken the background in a novel technique. He was using a plate camera.



OIL COLORING. The many hours of work required to color this enlargement was well worth it for Harold Lawton, who took first prize. Enlarging a black and white photograph, he then colored the print in oils, catching each small detail of the butterfly on the flowers.

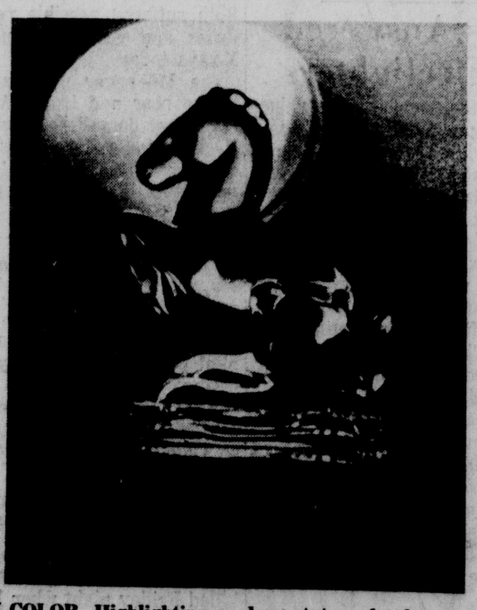
WESTERN SCENE. Mrs. Ida Karcher of LaCroft captured the serenity of a man and his horse with a mountain background during a vacation trip. Seeing the possibilities in the photo, she had it enlarged and won a blue ribbon in the scenic category. She was using a 35-camera.

ORIENTAL TOUCH. Miss Larry Cabell of New Manchester shot this color print of an oriental boy while on a world tour last year. The youth was playing on a Hong Kong street and captured Miss Cabell's fancy. Her candid shot with a 35-camera took a first place.



ARCHITECTURAL DESIGN. The angles and symmetry presented in this photograph by Harold Lawton of Lisbon St. won him a first place in the architecture category. It is the international headquarters of the Metal Society at Metal Park, Ohio. Lawton used a plate camera to shoot this while on a field trip with the Tri-State Camera Club.

HUMAN INTEREST. Mrs. Carol Walton of Macrum St., Dixonville, captured this interesting pose of her daughter, Heather, 5, and the elderly operator of a Dover museum. Using a 127 twin-lens reflex camera, she caught the extreme interest of the two during a conversation. Mrs. Walton also won a first in another division.



OPEN COLOR. Highlighting a glass statue of a horse with a blue photoflood light behind it and underexposing the background area, Mike Bloor of W. 5th St. shot this scene on a table. The intense coloration of the photograph won him a first place in the open color category. He also placed first in the color portrait division.

SQUIRREL SEASON WILL OPEN in Ohio Friday, but it probably won't be with a very loud "bang."

It is the same old story — there are squirrels, but in most places they are few and far between.

The mast crop is about average this year, a marked improvement over the 1967 season. There seems to be plenty of acorns and quite a few hickories. However, it will be a few weeks yet before the nuts start to ripen.

The foliage is very heavy and it will be extremely difficult to see the squirrels. Because of this, hunters should exercise extreme caution. Make sure you know what you are shooting at before pulling that trigger.

All should wear some of the fluorescent blaze orange. A hat and a vest of this color will help you stand out in the woods. Tests indicate the squirrels, an ordinarily very cautious animal, are not bothered by the colors. There are some, though, who will argue the point.

But, I believe it would be better to take a chance on spooking a few squirrels than risking the possibility of getting shot.

A 1969 HUNTING license will be needed. Don't forget to purchase one. Most hunters already have their area picked out and will be in the woods before daylight.

It is a good idea to scout woods ahead of time. Permission also should be obtained from the landowner. There are many farmers who have their land posted, but several do this to protect themselves and their livestock.

If a hunter takes time to stop and ask, even though there are signs, the chances are good he will be allowed to hunt. Law requires each hunter to obtain permission to hunt.

Because of the dry weathr, hunters also should be careful not to throw away a lighted cigarette. A wood fire can destroy wildlife cover and kill game.

Squirrels will seek out places where a water supply is nearby. Wooded areas along creeks and small streams should be good.

BEAVER CREEK is at one of the lowest points it has reached for a long time.

The water level appears to be down at least two feet. Bass and other fish will congregate in the deeper holes when it is low.

It is natural to believe this would create better fishing. But, the fish don't feed readily under these conditions and "spook" very easily.

If you fish, do it slowly and be as quiet as possible while wading. This is a good time of the year to fish with surface lures at night. Again, do it with caution.

Although bass have been hitting, most are in the 9 to 10 inch class.

COHOES GROWING. A coho salmon measuring 16 inches in length and weighing one and three-quarter pounds was caught in August, 22 miles north of Cleveland by the Lake Erie Fishery Survey Crew of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, which stocked the famed salt water fish in the lake early this year.

Sixteen miles north of Ashtabula another coho was taken which measured 13½ inches.

"We have increasing evidence that the coho salmon are growing fast in Lake Erie, and that northern Ohio will become a mecca for sports fishermen seeking this excellent fish," said Fred E. Morr, Director, Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

The coho salmon have grown between six and 10 inches in length since they were stocked on May 8 of this year, and have been running in depths of 50 feet.

"There is a good possibility of a few coho salmon returning to the Chagrin - Ashtabula - Conneaut areas this fall," according to Dan Armburster, Chief, Division of Wildlife.

HUNTING APPLICATIONS. Ohio waterfowl hunters may submit their applications for a Magee Marsh hunting permit through Sept. 13. Applications received after this date will not be accepted. Successful applicants will be determined by a public drawing at Wildlife Headquarters on Tuesday, Sept. 17 at 10. Each permit holder may bring one guest, however, a person may not hunt more than once as a permit holder or as a guest.

To apply for a permit, enclose a $10 certified check or money order in an envelope addressed to: Magee Marsh Permit, Division of Wildlife, 1500 Dublin Road, Columbus, Ohio 43215. Include your return address on this envelope. Make the check or money order payable to the Division of Wildlife.

Successful applicants will receive additional instructions concerning the Magee Marsh hunt along with their permits. Checks will be returned to unsuccessful applicants.

DOVE SEASON. Pennsylvania's 1968-69 hunting seasons will be launched on Labor Day.

Doves, gallinules and two species of rails will again be the lead-off targets for hunters.

The season on sora and Virginia rails and gallinules officially opens one-half hour before sunrise on Monday. Hunters are reminded that this year dove shooting starts at 12 o'clock noon prevailing time. Hunting ends at sunset daily.

Game Commission Executive Director Glenn L. Bowers said, "There will be an adequate supply of doves in the state this year, although the overall population of these feathered jets probably is not as great as last year.

"Some areas which had only a few doves in the past report the supply has increased this year, while some other areas which previously had an abundance of doves show fewer birds, although their populations are still adequate," Bowers said.

The director warned first-time dove hunters that they are taking on one of the most challenging targets afield. "Doves are deceptively fast and seem to know how to change directions just before the hunter fires. Experienced dove hunters know enough to take along several boxes of ammunition," he said.

The daily bag limit for doves is 12, with a maximum possession limit of 24 after the first day of the season. On sora and Virginia rails, the daily bag and possession limits are 25, singly or in the aggregate of the two species. The daily limit on gallinules is 15, with not more than 30 in possession after the first day of the season.

Hunters were reminded by Bowers that the 1968-69 hunting license must be used on and after September 1. A Federal Migratory Bird Hunting Stamp (duck stamp) is not required to hunt doves, rails, gallinules, snipe or woodcock (seasons on the latter birds open in October).

Bowers urged hunters who are in the habit of field-dressing doves to properly dispose of all remains and unsightly debris.

He also reminded hunters that federal regulations require that one fully feathered wing must remain attached to all migratory birds except doves while being transported.

Pennsylvania's archery deer season opens Sept. 28.

AIN'T NECESSARILY SO. A dab of paint or the addition of a little padding may be all that's needed to salvage a lure that is not producing fish

Color and size are extremely important in influencing the decision of a fish to smash a certain plug, say the fishing authorities. But, the lure in your hand may appear entirely different when scanned by the critical eye of a roving largemouth. He may not be impressed by either its size or color.

Instead of disposing of an ineffective plug, try changing its apparent size by painting it a different shade.

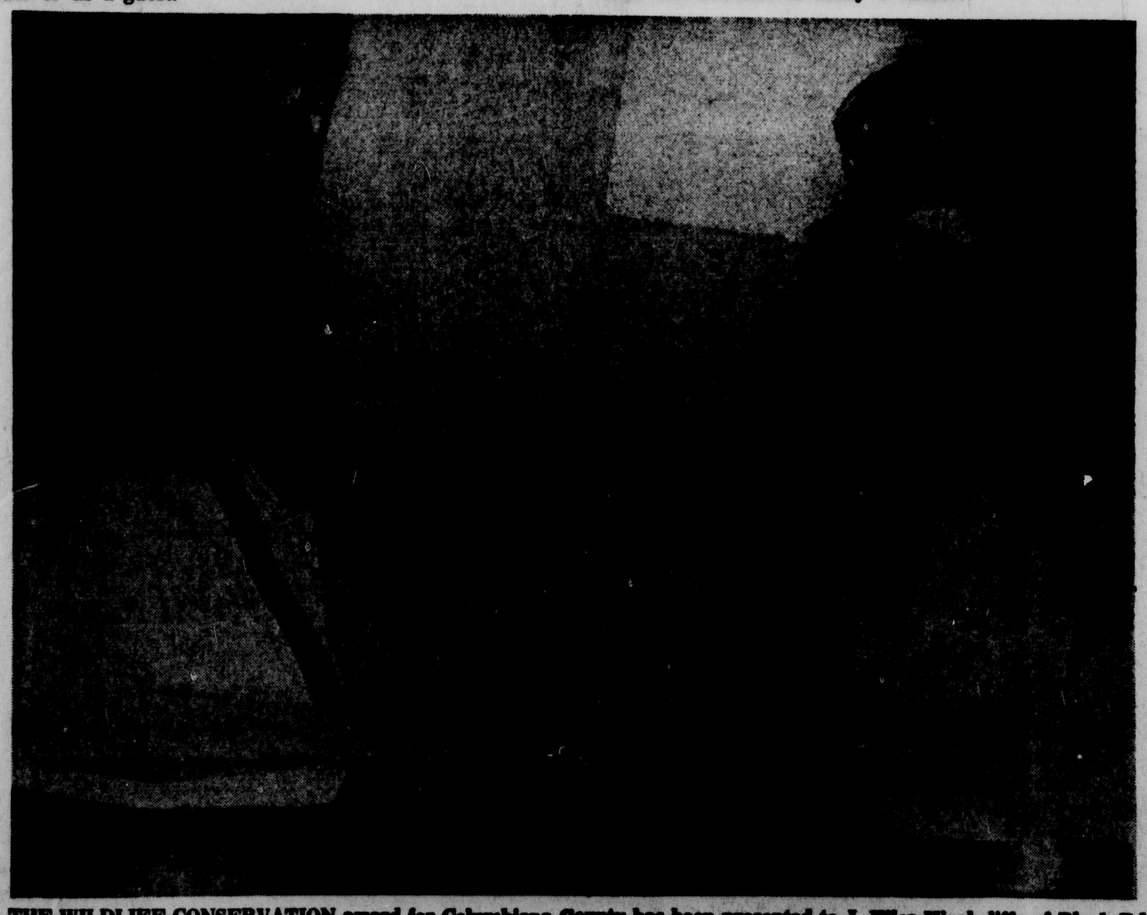
Skin divers have noted that lures painted yellow appear much larger when viewed from beneath the surface. This aberration is apparently caused by reflection, plus the magnifying effect of water. The same model in a different light-absorbing color might appear nearly normal.

Yellow and white-and-red combinations have long been favorite topwater choices: their effectiveness probably derives from the reflective qualities of these colors, not the colors themselves.

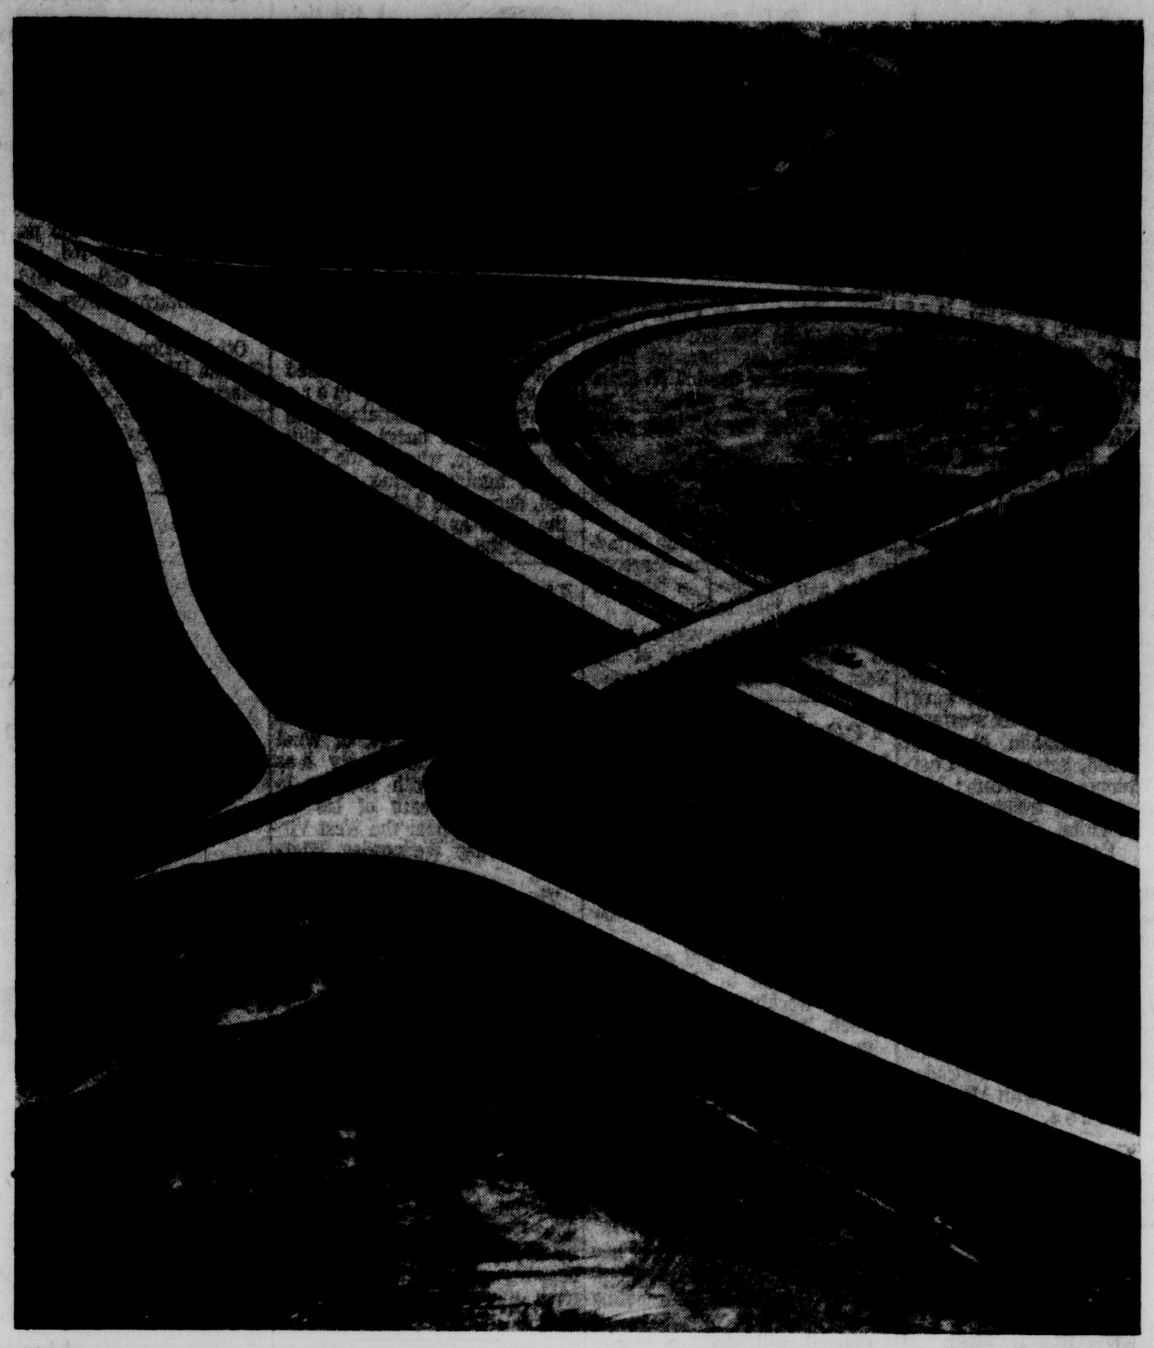
But color is not the only way to achieve a false dimension. There are other ways to pad out the girth of a lure without actually adding bulk.

Ordinary flyrod bugs with stiff hackles attached so that they stick out at right angles can create the effect of a larger apparition. The same feathers placed on the tail give the appearance of a longer lure. Neither alteration affects the casting or fishing abilities to any degree, but both create an entirely different impression on fish.

So heed the hues and pad the plugs—a phoney line has been the downfall of many a lunker.



THE WILDLIFE CONSERVATION award for Columbiana County has been presented to J. Eller Hinchcliffe of Black Rd., Lisbn. Ralph Drake, county game protector, is shown presenting the citation during the County Fair. Hinchcliffe was selected by an anonymous committee for carrying out conservation practices at his farm to aid wildlife. His record will be entered in state competition at the Ohio State Fair.



UNIQUE DESIGN. This new section of Route 22 at Weirton was opened to traffic Friday. Pictured is the unique part diamond, part cloverleaf interchange at Three Springs Dr. on the western end of the project. The unusual interchange was designed to avoid costly excavation. The new highway extends to the Pennsylvania border. The L. R. Skelton & Co. of Columbus was the contractor for the West Virginia Road Commission.

Dry heat can kill a mosquito because its body cannot efficiently control loss of moisture. This is why most mosquitoes will not fly in hot, dry sunshine.

The barbels (whiskers) of a bullhead serve as touch, smell and taste organs. The fish can actually sense food at great distances and swim directly to it.

The John Rossmans of Fostoria say:

"We found electric home heating clean, comfortable and so reasonable."

"Until you've lived in a home with electric heating, you just can't imagine how great it is . . . so clean, so comfortable," says Mrs. Rossman.

"And the cost is so reasonable." Only about a dollar a day for everything—the refrigerator, range, washer and dryer, water heater, two televisions, electric garage door opener, a host of other appliances . . . and the clean, flameless electric heating!

The Rossmans agree, "We wouldn't have any other type of heat! In fact, we'd be willing to pay more because we like electric heating so well!"

You too can be just as happy with electric heating and its operating costs. Call Ohio Power today for a free, no-obligation estimate of what it would cost to comfort-heat your home with flameless electric heating.

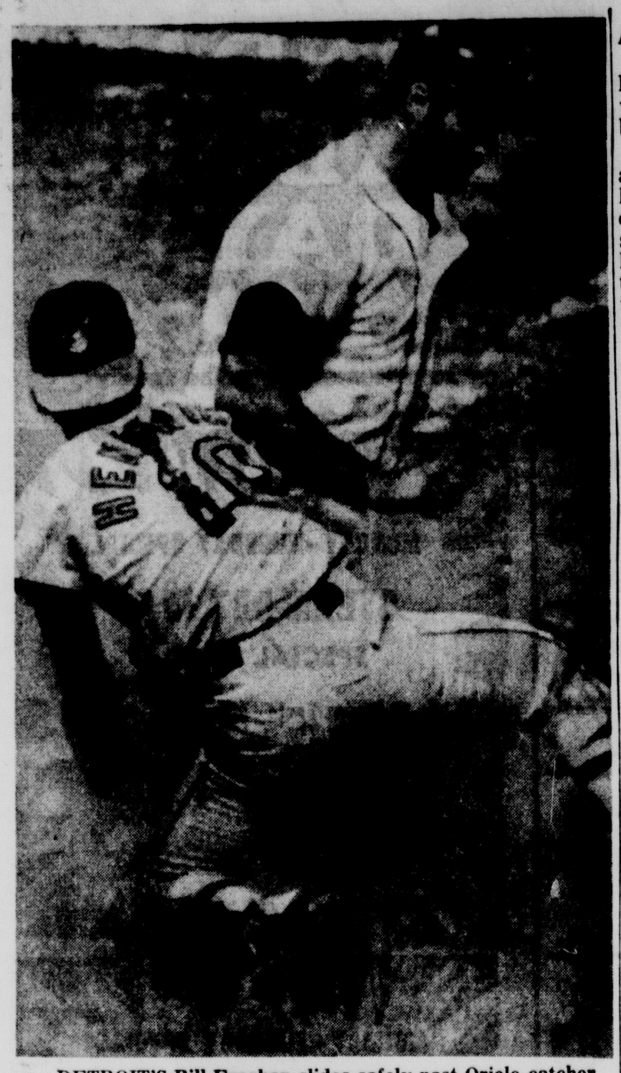
Tigers Roar To 7-Game Lead, Thump Orioles, 9-1



DETROIT'S Bill Freehan slides safely past Oriole catcher Elrod Hendricks at the plate after a deep hit to rightfield by Don Wert in the third inning of Friday''s' game at Tiger Stadium. The Tigers won 9-1 to stretch their lead to 7 games. (UPI Telephoto)

Wilson Allows 4-Hits, Drives In 4

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Detroit's Earl Wilson, who lost his pitching edge by leading with his chin, has found it again by swinging his bat.

Wilson hurled a four-hitter and drove in four runs with a homer and single as the American League leading Tigers shook Baltimore's pennant hopes Friday night by jolting the second place Orioles 9-1 in the opener of a three-game show-down series.

The loss, third in a row for the Orioles, dropped them seven games off the pace. They were only four out last Tuesday.

The home run was the fifth of the season for Wilson, who won 22 games for Detroit last season but has been sidetracked this year by fire line drives he couldn't dodge. Three of them resulted in shoulder, knee and heel injuries that knocked him out of the starting rotation.

In Friday night's other AL action Washington trimmed Boston 5-1; Minnesota nipped Chicago 5-4 in 11 innings; California beat Oakland 5-3 and New York split a doubleheader with Cleveland, winning 1-0 before bowing 3-2 in 10 innings.

Wilson, who stopped Detroit's four-game losing streak last Tuesday with a 3-0 six-hit triumph over the White Sox—and drove in two of the Tigers' runs to boot—crashed a three-run homer in the third inning and punched a run-scoring single in the fifth to cap a five-run wrap-up burst.

His 31 career homers are eight less than the all-time mark for pitchers, held by former Cleveland right-hander Wes Farrell.

Don Buford ruined Wilson's bid for a second straight shutout with a bases-empty homer in the sixth.

The Senators, trailing 1-0 in the ninth capitalized on successive throwing errors by Dalton Jones and Russ Gibson in a five-run comeback that beat Boston's Gary Bell.

A walk, followed by the two errors on bunts by pitcher Joe Coleman and Del Unser, tied the game. Ken McMullen's infield hit scored another run and Frank Howard doubled home two more before scoring on Mike Epstein's single.

Coleman held the Red Sox to six hits, including Ken Harrelson's 33rd homer.

The Twins pulled even with Chicago on Cesar Tovar's two-run triple in the ninth, after a two-out error by second baseman Sandy Alomar, then won it in the 11th on Rick Renick's double and Rich Reese's run-scoring single.

Successive second inning homers by Bobby Knoop and Tom Satriano helped stake the Angels to a 5-1 lead over Oakland and rookie Andy Messersmith preserved the edge with two scoreless innings of relief after the Athletics' Dave Duncan tagged winner Jim McGlothlin for a two-run homer in the seventh.

Fritz Peterson stopped Cleveland on four hits in the first game and the Yankees nicked Sam McDowell for the only run in the third on a walk, Bill Robinson's single, Tom Tresh's infield hit and a bases-loaded force at second.

The Indians filled the bases in the 10th inning of the nightcap on a single by Tony Horton and two walks, then broke the 2-2 deadlock when Max Alvis grounded to short and Horton beat Tresh's throw to the plate.

Defense-Minded Bengals Top Jets

Browns Come From Behind To Drop Bills

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The fledgling Cincinnati Bengals, hoping to gain ground in a hurry on their established rivals, are spending the exhibition season keeping people from gaining much ground on them.

Paul Brown's wonderkids, who shocked the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League a week ago, kept the embarrassment in the family Friday night and knocked off their American League colleagues, the New York Jets, 13-9. They held the Steelers to 29 yards on the ground and the Jets to 42.

A crowd of 24,358 at Memphis Tenn., roared its approval of two former University of Tennessee stars—quarterback Dewey Warren and center Bob Johnson, a pair of rookies. Warren guided the Bengals 70 yards in the closing minutes to the winning touchdown with Johnson opening the holes up front.

Elsewhere, Cleveland of the NFL rallied for 12 points in the final period and downed Buffalo of the AFL 22-12 in a renewal of an old All-America Conference Lake Erie rivalry. It was the 16th interleague game and trimmed the AFL's lead to 10-6.

Dennis Partee, a rookie from Southern Methodist, booted field goals of 13 and 30 yards to give San Diego a 6-3 triumph over Denver in an all-AFL battle.

Eight more games are on tap over the Labor Day weekend. Tonight, Baltimore (NFL) is at Miami (AFL), Dallas (NFL) at Houston (AFL) and Kansas City (AFL) at Los Angeles (NFL) in interleague scraps. NFL matches find New Orleans at Atlanta and Pittsburgh vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee, Wis.

Sunday, it's Oakland (AFL) at San Francisco (NFL) in an afternoon game and Minnesota (NFL) at St. Louis (NFL) in the first nationally televised Sunday night contest (CBS-TV, 9 p.m., EDT). The weekend winds up Monday with a game between Boston (AFL) and Philadelphia (NFL) at Cambridge, Mass.

The Bengals, 2-3, won the game with 1:57 remaining when another Johnson—Essex of Grambling climaxed the 70-yard march with a one-yard touchdown plunge and Dale Livingston converted. After Jets' quarterback Babe Parilli fumbled on the first play following the ensuing kickoff Livingston wound up the scoring with a 15-yard field goal.

Joe Namath played three quarters for the Jets, 2-2, completing 12 of 25 passes for 188 yards.

Running backs Leroy Kelly and Charley Harraway ripped the Bills, 2-2-1, apart in the fourth period before a throng of 45,448 in Buffalo. But it was Buffalo's rookie tandem of quarterback Dan Darragh and halfback Max Anderson who stole the show from the Browns, 3-1.

Darragh, a 13th-round draft choice from William & Mary, got his chance when Jack Kemp, the Bills' regular signal-caller, was racked up in a scrimmage and sidelined for the season with a knee injury. The cool rookie completed 15 of 33 tosses for 185 yards and Blanton Collier, the Browns' coach, went over to shake his hand at the final gun.

Anderson, a stumpy 5-foot-8 from Arizona State, carried 23 times for 103 yards.

San Diego's Partee sent his game-winning 30-yard field goal through the uprights with only 18 seconds left to end the spirited defensive struggle before 10,328 at San Antonio Tex. The Chargers are 3-2, Denver 1-3.

"The kid really came through in the clutch," said Coach Sid Gillman. "He's now 5-for-5 as a pro. You can't do any better."

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING—Tom Seaver, Mets, held St. Louis hitless through seven perfect innings and finished with a three-hit 8-2 victory over the National League leading Cardinals.

BATTING—Ron Santo, Cubs, drove in all five Chicago runs with his 21st and 22nd homers in a 5-3 victory over Houston.

Cards Snap Mets' Streak But Lose

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tom Seaver, ace of the precocious New York Met pitching staff, moves to the back of the class today. He gave the St. Louis Cardinals two runs.

Seaver pitched seven perfect innings against St. Louis Friday night, extending to 25 the string of zeroes dealt the Cards by Met pitchers this week.

Then he blew up and surrendered three hits and two runs for an 8-2 victory. That almost won't do for the Mets, who became accustomed to shutting out the Cards when Jim McAndrew and Dick Selma produced consecutive blanks earlier this week.

Elsewhere in the Natonal League Friday, Chicago dropped Houston 5-3, Philadelphia took Cincinnati 7-4, Atlanta shut out Pittsburgh 2-0 and Los Angeles shaded San Francisco 5-4.

Seaver, 13-9, retired 21 consecutive batters before Orlando Cepeda broke the spell by dropping a leadoff double to right field opening the eighth inning. Mike Shannon's run-scoring double and Lou Brock's ninth inning single were the only other hits off Seaver.

Meanwhile, the Mets had built a wide bulge against loser Nelson Briles with a six-run fifth inning, climaxed by Art Shamsky's grand slam home run.

Shamsky unloaded after two errors and a pair of singles by Jerry Grote and Bud Harrelson had given New York two runs. It was the ninth homer of the year and first grand slam of his career for Shamsky.

Ron Santo drove in all five Chicago runs with a pair of home runs as Ferguson Jenkins beat Houston for his 16th victory.

Santo, who has 22 homers for the year, connected with two on in the fourth and again with one man on in the sixth.

Denis Menke homered for Houston—one of 10 hits Jenkins gave up.

Doug Clemens rapped a three-run homer and Philadelphia halted a five-game losing streak by beating the Reds.

Clemens' shot—his first home run of the year—keyed a four-run Phillie rally in the sixth inning that opened a 7-0 lead. Chris Short won his 14th but had to leave after five innngs when he wrenched his knee making a putout at first base.

Milt Pappas allowed four hits in eight innings before an injury forced him out of the game but Claude Raymond preserved Atlanta's shutout against Pittsburgh.

Pappas pulled a muscle in his back making a throw in the eighth inning and Raymond pitched the ninth. Felipe Alou and Felix Millan drove in the Braves' runs with singles in the fifth inning.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Braves and third straight shutout loss for the Pirates.

The Dodgers snapped a 2-2 tie on Ken Boyer's run-scoring pinch single in the eighth, then scored twice more in the ninth with the help of two of San Francisco's five errors. Jim Brewer choked off a two-run ninth inning rally by the Giants in relief of winner Claude Osteen.

W. F. Porter of Park Blvd. fired his first hole-in-one Thursday at the East Liverpool Country Club. Using a No. 7 iron his ace came on the 144-yard No. 6 hole. He was playing in a foursome with Leland Pitfenger, S. C. Porter and Paul Plevich.

Tennis Crowd Waiting Pancho's Appearance

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.S. Open tennis championships which have been playing to yawning, empty seats, get a shot in the arm today—Pancho takes the stage.

Pancho Gonzales is now 40. His hair is getting gray around the edges, his step is a half-second slower and his marvelous reflexes have dulled considerably.

But he still serves at 113 miles an hour and sends electric impulses through tennis galleries.

Returning to the center court at West Side, where he won the last of his two National crowns in 1949, the tall, copper-skinned Mexican-American makes his debut in the Open against Colin Stubbs of Australia.

It's a second-round match, both having drawn first-round byes.

The third day's program also features appearances by left-handed Tony Roche of Australia, No. 2 seed and runner-up to Rod Laver at Wimbledon; Tom Okker, the Dutchman who knocked over the pros at Bournemouth, England, in the spring, and Bob Lutz of Los Angeles, runner-up Sunday to Arthur Ashe in the U.S. amateur championships at Brookline, Mass.

If Gonzales fears that age may militate against him in his debut, he should find some comfort from another pair of old U.S. Davis Cuppers who came through admirably Friday.

Vic Seixas celebrating his 45th birthday, won over Tom Gomran of Seattle, Wash., 8-6, 6-4, 6-3. Chuck McKinley, 1963 Wimbledon champion, took a back-breaker from Bill Tym of Peoria, Ill., 6-3, 8-6, 2-6, 3-6, 6-1. They meet in the second round.

Pro John Newcombe of Australia, 1967 U.S. winner and seeded fourth, crushed Allen Quay of South Orange N.J., 6-1, 6-3, 6-3. Seventh-seeded Clark Graebner won a slugging match from Premjit Lall of India 6-3, 1-6, 7-5, 6-4. Marty Riessen, seeded 15th, topped young Zeljko Franulovic of Yugoslavia 11-9, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Top-seeded Rod Laver, the Wimbledon Open champion, makes his start Sunday against Tomas Koch, Brazilian Davis cupper.

A former Scottish night club singer, Joyce Williams, upset seventh-seeded Mary Ann Eisel of St. Louis 5-7, 6-2 6-4. Mrs. Ann Haydon Jones of Britain, Judy Tegart of Australia and Virginia Wade of Britain, all seeded, gained the second round, only Miss Wade being carried to three sets.

Murphy's 68 Tops Pros At Thunderbird

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Bob Murphy spent the month of August making almost $42,000 and looks like he'll start September the same way. He's so confident, he sent his wife out to buy some new clothes.

"I have to do well here," he said after his four-under-par 68 gave him a two-stroke lead over 12 others in the first round of the $150,000 Thunderbird Classic Friday. "My wife just went into town for some new clothes to go to England."

The 25-year-old Murphy, who joined the tour in January, had won only $23,000 entering August.

Then he cashed a check for $1,020 with a tie for 24th in the American Golf Classic, picked up $20,400 for a second place tie at Westchester and won $20,000 with his first tour victory last week at Philadelphia. The winner of the Thunderbird gets $30,000.

"I'm just playing as well as I can play," the freckle-face former U.S. Amateur champion said. "I feel so comfortable over the ball and I feel awfully strong."

Included in the pack at 70 was Gary Player, participating in his first competitive round since winning the British Open six weeks ago.

"I'm extremely happy to have shot a 70," said Player, who bogeyed the 15th and 16th holes after being four under. "I've only played nine rounds of golf in the six weeks."

Also in at 70 were rookie pro Jerry Abbott, Billy Casper, Bruce Crampton, Steve Reid, Lou Graham, Homero Blancas, Lee Elder, Dudley Wysong, Bert Weaver, Chi Chi Rodriguez and Mason Rudolph.

Defending champion Arnold Palmer was tied with 10 others at 71 and pretournament favorite Jack Nicklaus was one of 18 players at 73.

Fleisher Leads By Two In U.S. Amateur Event

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bruce Fleisher overcame a bad case of jitters and now has a crack at winning the coveted U.S. Amateur golf championship in his first try.

The 19-year-old junior college student from Hialeah, Fla., carried a two-stroke advantage into today's final 18-hole round of the 68th National Amatuer.

He started poorly Friday but picked up momentum at the finish for a one-over-par 71 that gave him a 54-hole total of 214. That was four strokes over par on the par 70, 6,762-yard Scioto Country Club course that has had most of the players in the 62-man field talking to themselves.

Fleisher, who shared the halfway lead with Hubie Green of Birmingham, Ala., played with Green in the last twosome of the round.

The 21-year-old Green was Fleisher's closest pursuer after firing a 73 for a 216.

Three back of Fleisher was Bob Barbarossa of Osseo, Minn., one of two players in the field to shoot an even par 70. He was in at 217. A 70 helped Jack Lewis of Florence, S.C., move into fourth place at 218.

Steady Michael Bonallack, the British Amateur champ, saw his hopes for a Little Slam practically vanish when he posted five bogeys on the way to a 75. He was in a tie at 219 with John Birmingham of Pittsburgh, Pa., a 28-year-old dairyman who finally broke the ice with a 69, first sub-par round of the tourney.

Judge Says Oaks Will Have Barry

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Oakland Oaks get Rick Barry after Sept. 30 and his former employer, the San Francisco Warriors, has a chance to collect damages because of his defection.

That is the gist of Judge Walter Carpeneti's decision in Superior Court Friday.

Warrior owner Franklin Mieuli asked that Barry—the National Basketball Association's scoring champion in only his second season, 1966-7 —be forced to play another season under his contract.

Barry had signed in June 1967 with Oakland of the new American Basketball Association for three years for $225,000. His Warrior contract, including a one-year option, does not expire until Sept. 30. Last year, another judge forbade him to play for anyone except the Warriors before then.

Barry sat out the option.

Mieuli contended he should have played it out.

Judge Carpeneti ruled sitting was sufficient, that forcing him to play yet another year would constitute involuntary servitude.

RICK BARRY
Returns To Action.

Mieuli asserted Barry's defect on cost the Warriors $814,850 in revenue. Judge Carpeneti estimated the loss at $356,000.

Mieuli has a 4.5 million suit on file against the Oaks, Barry and the major stockholder, Pat Boone.

Weirton Edges Follansbee, 7-6, In Grid Opener

WEIRTON — Weirton opened the 1968 football season with a 7-6 win over Follansbee here Friday night.

An intercepted pass by linebacker Mark Hicks who ran 45 yards for the touchdown in the first period was the only scoring for the Red Riders. Terry Stewart's point after kick proved to be the deciding margin.

Follansbee's Tom Tomaselli ran 20 yards for a touchdown in the second quarter but a bad snap from center prevented the try for the extra point placement.

Royals Sign Tresvant

CINCINNATI (AP) — Forward John Tresvant has signed a contract with the Cincinnati Royals, leaving Adrian Smith the only player on the National Basketball Association team unsigned for the coming season.

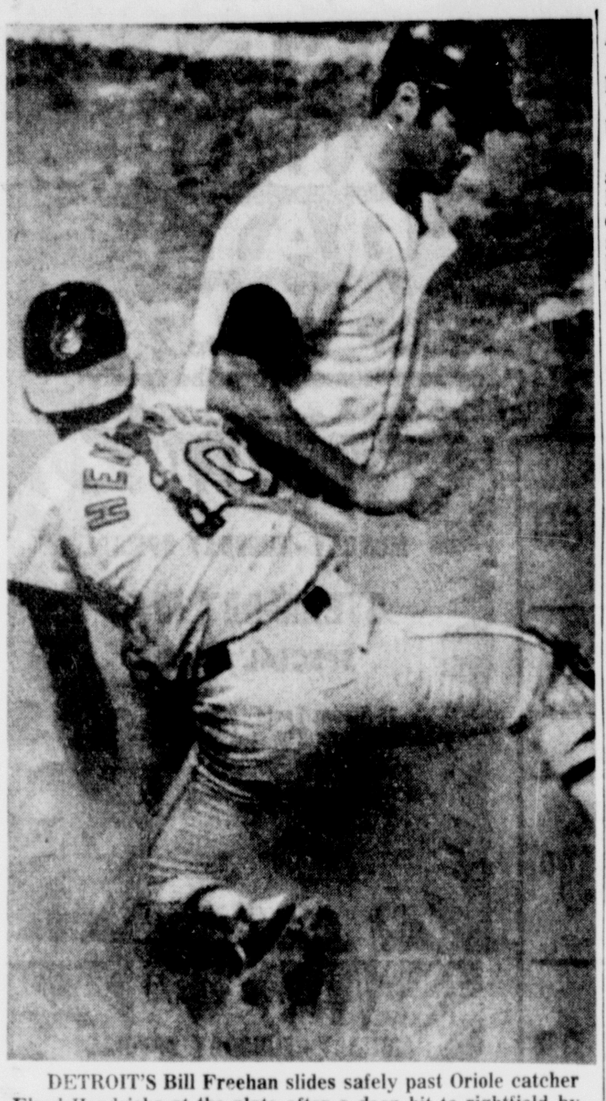
Tigers Roar To 7-Game Lead, Thump Orioles, 9-1



DETROIT'S Bill Freehan slides safely past Oriole catcher Elrod Hendricks at the plate after a deep hit to rightfield by Don Wert in the third inning of Friday''s' game at Tiger Stadium. The Tigers won 9-1 to stretch their lead to 7 games. (UPI Telephoto)

★ ★ ★ Wilson Allows 4-Hits, Drives In 4 ★ ★ ★

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Detroit's Earl Wilson, who lost his pitching edge by leading with his chin, has found it again by swinging his bat.

Wilson hurled a four-hitter and drove in four runs with a homer and single as the American League leading Tigers shook Baltimore's pennant hopes Friday night by jolting the second place Orioles 9-1 in the opener of a three-game show-down series.

The loss, third in a row for the Orioles, dropped them seven games off the pace. They were only four out last Tuesday.

The home run was the fifth of the season for Wilson, who won 22 games for Detroit last season but has been sidetracked this year by fire line drives he couldn't dodge. Three of them resulted in shoulder, knee and heel injuries that knocked him out of the starting rotation.

In Friday night's other AL action Washington trimmed Boston 5-1; Minnesota nipped Chicago 5-4 in 11 innings; California beat Oakland 5-3 and New York split a doubleheader with Cleveland, winning 1-0 before bowing 3-2 in 10 innings.

Wilson, who stopped Detroit's four-game losing streak last Tuesday with a 3-0 six-hit triumph over the White Sox—and drove in two of the Tigers' runs to boot—crashed a three-run homer in the third inning and punched a run-scoring single in the fifth to cap a five-run wrap-up burst.

His 31 career homers are eight less than the all-time mark for pitchers, held by former Cleveland right-hander Wes Farrell.

Don Buford ruined Wilson's bid for a second straight shutout with a bases-empty homer in the sixth.

The Senators, trailing 1-0 in the ninth capitalized on successive throwing errors by Dalton Jones and Russ Gibson in a five-run comeback that beat Boston's Gary Bell.

A walk, followed by the two errors on bunts by pitcher Joe Coleman and Del Unser, tied the game. Ken McMullen's infield hit scored another run and Frank Howard doubled home two more before scoring on Mike Epstein's single.

Coleman held the Red Sox to six hits, including Ken Harrelson's 33rd homer.

The Twins pulled even with Chicago on Cesar Tovar's two-run triple in the ninth, after a two-out error by second baseman Sandy Alomar, then won it in the 11th on Rick Renick's double and Rich Reese's run-scoring single.

Successive second inning homers by Bobby Knoop and Tom Satriano helped stake the Angels to a 5-1 lead over Oakland and rookie Andy Messersmith preserved the edge with two scoreless innings of relief after the Athletics' Dave Duncan tagged winner Jim McGlothlin for a two-run homer in the seventh.

Fritz Peterson stopped Cleveland on four hits in the first game and the Yankees nicked Sam McDowell for the only run in the third on a walk, Bill Robinson's single, Tom Tresh's infield hit and a bases-loaded force at second.

The Indians filled the bases in the 10th inning of the nightcap on a single by Tony Horton and two walks, then broke the 2-2 deadlock when Max Alvis grounded to short and Horton beat Tresh's throw to the plate.

Browns Come From Behind To Drop Bills

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The fledgling Cincinnati Bengals, hoping to gain ground in a hurry on their established rivals, are spending the exhibition season keeping people from gaining much ground on them.

Paul Brown's wonderkids, who shocked the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League a week ago, kept the embarrassment in the family Friday night and knocked off their American League colleagues, the New York Jets, 13-9. They held the Steelers to 29 yards on the ground and the Jets to 42.

A crowd of 24,358 at Memphis Tenn., roared its approval of two former University of Tennessee stars—quarterback Dewey Warren and center Bob Johnson, a pair of rookies. Warren guided the Bengals 70 yards in the closing minutes to the winning touchdown with Johnson opening the holes up front.

Elsewhere, Cleveland of the NFL rallied for 12 points in the final period and downed Buffalo of the AFL 22-12 in a renewal of an old All-America Conference Lake Erie rivalry. It was the 16th interleague game and trimmed the AFL's lead to 10-6.

Dennis Partee, a rookie from Southern Methodist, booted field goals of 13 and 30 yards to give San Diego a 6-3 triumph over Denver in an all-AFL battle.

Eight more games are on tap over the Labor Day weekend. Tonight, Baltimore (NFL) is at Miami (AFL), Dallas (NFL) at Houston (AFL) and Kansas City (AFL) at Los Angeles (NFL) in interleague scraps. NFL matches find New Orleans at Atlanta and Pittsburgh vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee, Wis.

Sunday, it's Oakland (AFL) at San Francisco (NFL) in an afternoon game and Minnesota (NFL) at St. Louis (NFL) in the first nationally televised Sunday night contest (CBS-TV, 9 p.m., EDT). The weekend winds up Monday with a game between Boston (AFL) and Philadelphia (NFL) at Cambridge, Mass.

The Bengals, 2-3, won the game with 1:57 remaining when another Johnson—Essex of Grambling climaxed the 70-yard march with a one-yard touchdown plunge and Dale Livingston converted. After Jets' quarterback Babe Parilli fumbled on the first play following the ensuing kickoff Livingston wound up the scoring with a 15-yard field goal.

Joe Namath played three quarters for the Jets, 2-2, completing 12 of 25 passes for 188 yards.

Running backs Leroy Kelly and Charley Harraway ripped the Bills, 2-2-1, apart in the fourth period before a throng of 45,448 in Buffalo. But it was Buffalo's rookie tandem of quarterback Dan Darragh and halfback Max Anderson who stole the show from the Browns, 3-1.

Darragh, a 13th-round draft choice from William & Mary, got his chance when Jack Kemp, the Bills' regular signal-caller, was racked up in a scrimmage and sidelined for the season with a knee injury. The cool rookie completed 15 of 33 tosses for 185 yards and Blanton Collier, the Browns' coach, went over to shake his hand at the final gun.

Anderson, a stumpy 5-foot-8 from Arizona State, carried 23 times for 103 yards.

San Diego's Partee sent his game-winning 30-yard field goal through the uprights with only 18 seconds left to end the spirited defensive struggle before 10,328 at San Antonio Tex. The Chargers are 3-2, Denver 1-3.

"The kid really came through in the clutch," said Coach Sid Gillman. "He's now 5-for-5 as a pro. You can't do any better."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bruce Fleisher overcame a bad case of jitters and now has a crack at winning the coveted U.S. Amateur golf championship in his first try.

The 19-year-old junior college student from Hialeah, Fla., carried a two-stroke advantage into today's final 18-hole round of the 68th National Amatuer.

He started poorly Friday but picked up momentum at the finish for a one-over-par 71 that gave him a 54-hole total of 214. That was four strokes over par on the par 70, 6,762-yard Scioto Country Club course that has had most of the players in the 62-man field talking to themselves.

Fleisher, who shared the halfway lead with Hubie Green of Birmingham, Ala., played with Green in the last twosome of the round.

The 21-year-old Green was Fleisher's closest pursuer after firing a 73 for a 216.

Three back of Fleisher was Bob Barbarossa of Osseo, Minn., one of two players in the field to shoot an even par 70. He was in at 217. A 70 helped Jack Lewis of Florence, S.C., move into fourth place at 218.

Steady Michael Bonallack, the British Amateur champ, saw his hopes for a Little Slam practically vanish when he posted five bogeys on the way to a 75. He was in a tie at 219 with John Birmingham of Pittsburgh, Pa., a 28-year-old dairyman who finally broke the ice with a 69, first sub-par round of the tourney.

Murphy's 68 Tops Pros At Thunderbird

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Bob Murphy spent the month of August making almost $42,000 and looks like he'll start September the same way. He's so confident, he sent his wife out to buy some new clothes.

"I have to do well here," he said after his four-under-par 68 gave him a two-stroke lead over 12 others in the first round of the $150,000 Thunderbird Classic Friday. "My wife just went into town for some new clothes to go to England."

The 25-year-old Murphy, who joined the tour in January, had won only $23,000 entering August.

Then he cashed a check for $1,020 with a tie for 24th in the American Golf Classic, picked up $20,400 for a second place tie at Westchester and won $20,000 with his first tour victory last week at Philadelphia. The winner of the Thunderbird gets $30,000.

"I'm just playing as well as I can play," the freckle-face former U.S. Amateur champion said. "I feel so comfortable over the ball and I feel awfully strong."

Included in the pack at 70 was Gary Player, participating in his first competitive round since winning the British Open six weeks ago.

"I'm extremely happy to have shot a 70," said Player, who bogeyed the 15th and 16th holes after being four under. "I've only played nine rounds of golf in the six weeks."

Also in at 70 were rookie pro Jerry Abbott, Billy Casper, Bruce Crampton, Steve Reid, Lou Graham, Homero Blancas, Lee Elder, Dudley Wysong, Bert Weaver, Chi Chi Rodriguez and Mason Rudolph.

Defending champion Arnold Palmer was tied with 10 others at 71 and pretournament favorite Jack Nicklaus was one of 18 players at 73.

Judge Says Oaks Will Have Barry

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Oakland Oaks get Rick Barry after Sept. 30 and his former employer, the San Francisco Warriors, has a chance to collect damages because of his defection.

That is the gist of Judge Walter Carpeneti's decision in Superior Court Friday.

Warrior owner Franklin Mieuli asked that Barry—the National Basketball Association's scoring champion in only his second season, 1966-7 —be forced to play another season under his contract.

Barry had signed in June 1967 with Oakland of the new American Basketball Association for three years for $225,000. His Warrior contract, including a one-year option, does not expire until Sept. 30. Last year, another judge forbade him to play for anyone except the Warriors before then.

Barry sat out the option.

Mieuli contended he should have played it out.

Judge Carpeneti ruled sitting was sufficient, that forcing him to play yet another year would constitute involuntary servitude.

RICK BARRY
Returns To Action.

Mieuli asserted Barry's defect on cost the Warriors $814,850 in revenue. Judge Carpeneti estimated the loss at $356,000.

Mieuli has a 4.5 million suit on file against the Oaks, Barry and the major stockholder, Pat Boone.

Weirton Edges Follansbee, 7-6, In Grid Opener

WEIRTON — Weirton opened the 1968 football season with a 7-6 win over Follansbee here Friday night.

An intercepted pass by linebacker Mark Hicks who ran 45 yards for the touchdown in the first period was the only scoring for the Red Riders. Terry Stewart's point after kick proved to be the deciding margin.

Follansbee's Tom Tomaselli ran 20 yards for a touchdown in the second quarter but a bad snap from center prevented the try for the extra point placement.

Royals Sign Tresvant

CINCINNATI (AP) — Forward John Tresvant has signed a contract with the Cincinnati Royals, leaving Adrian Smith the only player on the National Basketball Association team unsigned for the coming season.

Fight Results

NAPLES, Italy — Remo Golfarini, Italy, stopped Mario Lamagna, Italy, 3. Golfarini won Italian middleweight championship.

11 Lettermen Gone

Graduation Losses Heavy For E. Palestine Gridders

The East Palestine Bulldogs went 6-4 a year ago but lost 11 lettermen from that team and coach Bill Offenbacher will do well to better his 1967 record.

Offenbacher starts his fourth season with nine lettermen, five of them running backs. All seniors, they are Joe Lewis, 6-2, 180; Dean Hutchison, 5-10, 160; Kim Hunston, 6-2, 165, and the Nash twins, Clark and Cliff, both 5-10, 165. Junior Tim Blyth is expected to be the quarterback.

Other lettermen, all seniors, are ends Phil Simon, 5-11, 180, and Terry Lipp, 6-2, 165; guard Hank Jurajadic, 5-9, 165 and Bill Tyger, 6-2, 215 who played tackle last year but who will be at center this season. Junior Bill Martin and senior Louis Vogel are tackles and juniors Ed Fisher and Rich Cozza ends. Offenbacher uses three ends and one tackle in his unbalanced split T formation. Sophomores Steve Beatrice and Lenny Holman and junior Joe Chaplow will battle for the other guard spot. Most players go both ways. East Palestine uses a 5-4 defense.

Offenbacher is assisted by Jack Swinderman, Dave MacKay, Clyde Pritchett and Ron Novak.

Offenbacher picks Minerva, Leetonia and Sebring as the strong teams in the Tri-County League.

The schedule:

Bengals Progressing Since First Exhibition Contest

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Paul Brown stepped onto the field at Cincinnati's Nippert Stadium prior to his first game in five years as a coach, looked around and said:

"This field looks short, but it'll probably get longer as the game goes."

Brown, coach of the American Football League's newest team, the Cincinnati Bengals, had taken steps to insure the season doesn't seem to get longer and longer as it goes.

"I've prepared myself for this," said the former, highly successful coach of the Cleveland Browns of the National League. "I coached myself before I came.

"We're not misleading ourselves. We're an expansion team, and we know it. We have a tough nut to crack."

Brown, who will be 60 next Saturday, is going through the team building process for the second team. Twenty-two years ago he built the Cleveland Browns and soon turned them into a powerhouse that dominated first the All-America Conference and then the NFL for a while.

He's not laboring under any illusions that he can do the same within a short time in the AFL.

In fact, if he had any such thoughts, they were quickly dispelled in the Bengals' first exhibition game, a contest against Kansas City in which they didn't run a play from scrimmage for the entire first quarter.

Actually, though, the Bengals have progressed rapidly since that quarter. They dropped their first three exhibition games all to AFL foes, but then surprisingly beat the Pittsburgh Steelers of the NFL.

Dewey Warren, a rookie from Tennessee who powered that victory, could wind up as the starting quarterback after starting out behind John Stofa. Brown traded for Stofa soon after obtaining the franchise, but the former Miami Dolphin injured his leg and hasn't played lately.

Warren, meanwhile, has displayed a bold, confident kind of quarterbacking and could be the No. 1 man when the Bengals open the season at San Diego next Friday night.

As receivers, Cincinnati has a pair of rookies at the ends. Warren McVea from Houston and Bob Trumpy from Utah, and a second-year player, Rod Sherman, at flanker. Sherman was grabbed from Oakland in the expansion draft.

The running attack also features rookies, which further indicates Brown's confidence that youth is the shortest route to eventual and lasting success.

Tom Smiley of Lamar Tech has been running at fullback while Paul Robinson of Arizona State and Jesse Phillips of Michigan State share the halfback spot. Phillips, incidentally, is the fellow who was paroled from a Michigan prison a day before Cincinnati's first exhibition game.

The interior offensive line also has three rookies—guard Dave Middendorf of Washington State, All-America center Bob Johnson of Tennessee and tackle Howie Fest of Texas. Tackle Ernie Wright, on the other hand, is in his ninth pro year. The other guard is third-year pro Pat Matson.

Right now the defensive line has Jim Griffin and Harry Gunner at end and Bill Staley and Bill Kindricks at tackle.

Probably the best part of the defense is the linebacking where veterans Dan Brabham and Frank Buncom are stationed. Sherrill Headrick another veteran, started out at middle linebacker, but he's been injured so Mike Hibler has stepped in.

The secondary also is comprised of veterans—Fletcher Smith and Bobby Hunt, both of whom came from Kansas City, White Graves and Charlie King.

Schollander Cracks One Of Three Swim Records

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Schollander, the swimming hero of the 1964 Olympics, could do it again in 1968.

Three world records fell Friday night in as many events of the U.S. Men's Olympic trials, and the blond Yale senior owned one of them.

The winner of four gold medals at Tokyo lowered his record of 1 minute, 55.7 seconds in the 200-meter freestyle to 1:54.8 in the preliminaries and to 1:54.3, in winning the final.

Other world marks on the first program of the five-night meet were by Mark Spitz of Santa Clara, Calif., with 55.6 in the 100-meter butterfly and Charles Hickox of Phoenix, Ariz., and Indiana University with 4:39.0 in the 400-meter individual medley at the Belmont Plaza pool.

Schollander swims the 100-meter freestyle on Monday and also probably will win spots on both the 400 and 800-meter relay teams, so could have a chance for another four gold medals in the Olympics at Mexico City this October.

Also qualifying in the 200 were John Nelson, from Pompano Beach, Fla., a Yale teammate of Schollander's, and Stephen Rerych of Paterson, N.J. They were timed in 1:56.64 and 1:57.33 respectively but after 50 meters weren't serious threats to the winner.

The 100-butterfly was something else. Doug Russell, 22, of Arlington, Tex., posted the fastest preliminary time of 55.99 while Splitz, 18, clocked 56.43. Russell led the final until the final 10 meters when Spitz surged ahead to lower his own world record of 55.7 by a tenth of a second.

Russell, needing an extra stroke, finished second in 56.1 with Princeton's Ross Wales third at 57.7 to repeat as an Olympian

Hickox led the 400 individual medley—butterfly, backstroke, breastroke and freestyle, all the way but was continually challenged by Greg Buckingham of Santa Clara, Calif., and Gary Hall, a 17-year-old from Long Beach.

Earlier in the year both Buckingham and Hall had bettered the official world record of 4:45.4 set by Dick Roth of Atherton, Calif., in 1964. This time Buckingham finished second in 4:40.25 and Hall qualified for the team at the third place with 4:40.63.

On today's program are the 400-meter freestyle, the 100 breaststroke and the 200 individual medley where the Hickcox, Buckingham, Hall tro are expected to duel again.

Squirrel season will open Oct. 12 and runs through Jan. 4, except in 10 southwestern counties which open early, Natural Resources Director T. R. Samsell said Friday.

Ironmen Tackle Raiders Sunday

WHEELING (AP) — Western Michigan University will have good representation in Sunday's Continental Football League game between the Ohio Valley Ironmen of Wheeling and the Quad City Raiders of Silvis, Ill.

Both Joe Harenza, quarterback for the Raiders, and Ed Chlebek, Ironmen quarterback, are graduates of the Kalamazoo school.

Harenza, a 1968 graduate, is a rookie on the Raiders squad. He joined the Raiders after a tryout with the Washington Redskins of the National Football League.

Chlebek, a 1962 graduate, played for Grand Rapids of the defunct United Football League before joining the Ironmen in 1967.

The first election in which the electors cast separate ballots for the president and vice-president was that of 1804, under provisions of the 12th Amendment.

Lincoln High Group Slates Bonfire, Rally

11 Lettermen Gone

Graduation Losses Heavy For E. Palestine Gridders

The East Palestine Bulldogs went 6-4 a year ago but lost 11 lettermen from that team and coach Bill Offenbacher will do well to better his 1967 record.

Offenbacher starts his fourth season with nine lettermen, five of them running backs. All seniors, they are Joe Lewis, 6-2, 180; Dean Hutchison, 5-10, 160; Kim Hunston, 6-2, 165, and the Nash twins, Clark and Cliff, both 5-10, 165. Junior Tim Blyth is expected to be the quarterback.

Other lettermen, all seniors, are ends Phil Simon, 5-11, 180, and Terry Lipp, 6-2, 165; guard Hank Jurajadic, 5-9, 165 and Bill Tyger, 6-2, 215 who played tackle last year but who will be at center this season. Junior Bill Martin and senior Louis Vogel are tackles and juniors Ed Fisher and Rich Cozza ends. Offenbacher uses three ends and one tackle in his unbalanced split T formation. Sophomores Steve Beatrice and Lenny Holman and junior Joe Chaplow will battle for the other guard spot. Most players go both ways. East Palestine uses a 5-4 defense.

Offenbacher is assisted by Jack Swinderman, Dave MacKay, Clyde Pritchett and Ron Novak.

Offenbacher picks Minerva, Leetonia and Sebring as the strong teams in the Tri-County League.

The schedule:

Sept. 6—at Wellsville
Sept. 14—at West Branch
Sept. 20—at Sebring*
Sept. 27—Lisbon*
Oct. 4—Lisbon*

Bengals Progressing Since First Exhibition Contest

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Paul Brown stepped onto the field at Cincinnati's Nippert Stadium prior to his first game in five years as a coach, looked around and said:

"This field looks short, but it'll probably get longer as the game goes."

Brown, coach of the American Football League's newest team, the Cincinnati Bengals, had taken steps to insure the season doesn't seem to get longer and longer as it goes.

"I've prepared myself for this," said the former, highly successful coach of the Cleveland Browns of the National League. "I coached myself before I came.

"We're not misleading ourselves. We're an expansion team, and we know it. We have a tough nut to crack."

Brown, who will be 60 next Saturday, is going through the team building process for the second team. Twenty-two years ago he built the Cleveland Browns and soon turned them into a powerhouse that dominated first the All-America Conference and then the NFL for a while.

He's not laboring under any illusions that he can do the same within a short time in the AFL.

In fact, if he had any such thoughts, they were quickly disspelled in the Bengals' first exhibition game, a contest against Kansas City in which they didn't run a play from scrimmage for the entire first quarter.

Actually, though, the Bengals have progressed rapidly since that quarter. They dropped their first three exhibition games all to AFL foes, but then surprisingly beat the Pittsburgh Steelers of the NFL.

Dewey Warren, a rookie from Tennessee who powered that victory, could wind up as the starting quarterback after starting out behind John Stofa. Brown traded for Stofa soon after obtaining the franchise, but the former Miami Dolphin injured his leg and hasn't played lately.

Warren, meanwhile, has displayed a bold, confident kind of quarterbacking and could be the No. 1 man when the Bengals open the season at San Diego next Friday night.

As receivers, Cincinnati has a pair of rookies at the ends, Warren McVea from Houston and Bob Trumpy from Utah, and a second-year player, Rod Sherman, at flanker. Sherman was grabbed from Oakland in the expansion draft.

The running attack also features rookies, which further indicates Brown's confidence that youth is the shortest route to eventual and lasting success.

Tom Smiley of Lamar Tech has been running at fullback while Paul Robinson of Arizona State and Jesse Phillips of Michigan State share the halfback spot. Phillips, incidentally, is the fellow who was paroled from a Michigan prison a day before Cincinnati's first exhibition game.

The interior offensive line also has three rookies—guard Dave Middendorf of Washington State, All-America center Bob Johnson of Tennessee and tackle Howie Fest of Texas. Tackle Ernie Wright, on the other hand, is in his ninth pro year. The other guard is third-year pro Pat Matson.

Right now the defensive line has Jim Griffin and Harry Gunner at end and Bill Staley and Bill Kindricks at tackle.

Probably the best part of the defense is the linebacking where veterans Dan Brabham and Frank Buncom are stationed. Sherrill Headrick another veteran, started out at middle linebacker, but he's been injured so Mike Hibler has stepped in.

The secondary also is comprised of veterans—Fletcher Smith and Bobby Hunt, both of whom came from Kansas City, White Graves and Charlie King.

Schollander Cracks One Of Three Swim Records

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Schollander, the swimming hero of the 1964 Olympics, could do it again in 1968.

Three world records fell Friday night in as many events of the U.S. Men's Olympic trials, and the blond Yale senior owned one of them.

The winner of four gold medals at Tokyo lowered his record of 1 minute, 55.7 seconds in the 200-meter freestyle to 1:54.8 in the preliminaries and to 1:54.3, in winning the final.

Other world marks on the first program of the five-night meet were by Mark Spitz of Santa Clara, Calif., with 55.6 in the 100-meter butterfly and Charles Hickox of Phoenix, Ariz., and Indiana University with 4:39.0 in the 400-meter individual medley at the Belmont Plaza pool.

Schollander swims the 100-meter freestyle on Monday and also probably will win spots on both the 400 and 800-meter relay teams, so could have a chance for another four gold medals in the Olympics at Mexico City this October.

Also qualifying in the 200 were John Nelson, from Pompano Beach, Fla., a Yale teammate of Schollander's, and Stephen Rerych of Paterson, N.J. They were timed in 1:56.64 and 1:57.33 respectively but after 50 meters weren't serious threats to the winner.

The 100-butterfly was something else. Doug Russell, 22, of Arlington, Tex., posted the fastest preliminary time of 55.99 while Splitz, 18, clocked 56.43. Russell led the final until the final 10 meters when Spitz surged ahead to lower his own world record of 55.7 by a tenth of a second.

Russell, needing an extra stroke, finished second in 56.1 with Princeton's Ross Wales third at 57.7 to repeat as an Olympian

Hickox led the 400 individual medley—butterfly, backstroke, breastroke and freestyle, all the way but was continually challenged by Greg Buckingham of Santa Clara, Calif., and Gary Hall, a 17-year-old from Long Beach.

Earlier in the year both Buckingham and Hall had bettered the official world record of 4:45.4 set by Dick Roth of Atherton, Calif., in 1964. This time Buckingham finished second in 4:40.25 and Hall qualified for the team at the third place with 4:40.63.

On today's program are the 400-meter freestyle, the 100 breaststroke and the 200 individual medley where the Hickcox, Buckingham, Hall tro are expected to duel again.

The DOCTOR Says

By Dr. W. G. Brandstadt

Causes Vary In Nerve Disorders

Q—What is the cause of peripheral neuritis? What is the best treatment for it?

Dr. Brandstadt

A—Peripheral neuritis is an inflammation of one or more of the branches derived from the nerve trunks that come from the spinal cord. Possible causes include poisoning with lead, arsenic, alcohol and other chemicals; various infections such as diphtheria, leprosy, German measles, typhus and typhoid; pressure on the nerve by a tumor; injury; poor circulation, and a deficiency of vitamin B. No single treatment would help all these diverse causes but a nerve specialist (neurologist) might. Prolonged treatment is often necessary.

Q—I have peripheral neuritis with constant pain in my legs when I sit with my legs resting on a hassock. When I walk I have no pain. My doctor says that a spinal tap may show the cause of the pains. Is this procedure dangerous?

A—A spinal tap or puncture and the withdrawal of a sample of spinal fluid for various diagnostic tests is a standard procedure and is not dangerous.

Q—What are the cause, symptoms, prognosis and treatment of polyneuritis? Do polyneuritis, inflammatory neuritis and multiple sclerosis have the same effect on a person?

A—Polyneuritis is an inflammatory process that involves several nerves and it comes in different shades of severity with a variety of causes. It may be associated with diptheria, infectious mononucleosis, infectious hepatitis, leprosy, Guillain-Barre's syndrome or, as is true in many cases, no cause may be found. The symptoms depend on what nerves are involved. But, in general, if motor nerves are affected, there is weakness or paralysis of the muscles supplied and, if sensory nerves are affected, there is pain or numbness of the area supplied.

TREATMENT and prognosis would depend on the cause. All diseases of the nerves may have some symptoms in common.

Q—I am a housewife, 59. I have been under treatment for manic-depressive psychosis for nine years. For the past three years, I've been taking Alertonic, Triavil, Noludar and Artane. Are they habit-forming?

A—No.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

The Friday arrivals were Miss Georgia, Burma Ann Davis, 20, of Warner Robins; Miss Florida, Linda Fitts, 20, of Panama City, and Miss New Mexico, Karen Jan Maciolek, 19, of Albuquerque.

Karen, a 19-year-old Eastern New Mexico University sophomore, was the first to check in after a grueling trip.

The 5-foot-3 brown-eyed, brown-haired physical education major said her plane was late getting into Dallas, Tex., where she had to transfer to a flight for Philadelphia.

"We got there just as the plane was leaving," she said. "We just kind of stood there and watched it go into the sky."

She and her traveling companions, Zana Willey, her chaperon, and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hawkins, New Mexico State pageant officials, had to wait 2½ hours for another flight.

Nevertheless, she looked fresh and relaxed when she met with newsmen shortly after her arrival almost five hours behind schedule.

Her secret: "I catnapped and just kept thinking about getting here."

Most of the girls were expected to arrive this weekend for the week of pageantry that begins Monday with registration and picture-taking, and ends Saturday night with the selection of the new Miss America.

The DOCTOR Says

By Dr. W. G. Brandstadt

Causes Vary In Nerve Disorders

Q—What is the cause of peripheral neuritis? What is the best treatment for it?

Dr. Brandstadt

A—Peripheral neuritis is an inflammation of one or more of the branches derived from the nerve trunks that come from the spinal cord. Possible causes include poisoning with lead, arsenic, alcohol and other chemicals; various infections such as diphtheria, leprosy, German measles, typhus and typhoid; pressure on the nerve by a tumor; injury; poor circulation, and a deficiency of vitamin B. No single treatment would help all these diverse causes but a nerve specialist (neurologist) might. Prolonged treatment is often necessary.

Q—I have peripheral neuritis with constant pain in my legs when I sit with my legs resting on a hassock. When I walk I have no pain. My doctor says that a spinal tap may show the cause of the pains. Is this procedure dangerous?

A—A spinal tap or puncture and the withdrawal of a sample of spinal fluid for various diagnostic tests is a standard procedure and is not dangerous.

Q—What are the cause, symptoms, prognosis and treatment of polyneuritis? Do polyneuritis, inflammatory neuritis and multiple sclerosis have the same effect on a person?

A—Polyneuritis is an inflammatory process that involves several nerves and it comes in different shades of severity with a variety of causes. It may be associated with diptheria, infectious mononucleosis, infectious hepatitis, leprosy, Guillain-Barre's syndrome or, as is true in many cases, no cause may be found. The symptoms depend on what nerves are involved. But, in general, if motor nerves are affected, there is weakness or paralysis of the muscles supplied and, if sensory nerves are affected, there is pain or numbness of the area supplied.

—:—

TREATMENT and prognosis would depend on the cause. All diseases of the nerves may have some symptoms in common.

Q—I am a housewife, 59. I have been under treatment for manic-depressive psychosis for nine years. For the past three years, I've been taking Alertonic, Triavil, Noludar and Artane. Are they habit-forming?

A—No.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

EAR FOR MUSIC is not what inspired "Calamity Jane's" owner to provide the horse with a transistor radio. Bells, firecrackers and shotgun blasts are played over the radio to accustom the horse to loud noises which it is likely to hear during a parade. Six weeks' training are required to ready the animal for parade duty.

3 Miss America Contestants At Site Of Pageant

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Three of the 50 Miss America Pageant contestants have arrived, one of them despite missing a plane connection and having to travel all night.

The Friday arrivals were Miss Georgia, Burma Ann Davis, 20, of Warner Robins; Miss Florida, Linda Fitts, 20, of Panama City, and Miss New Mexico, Karen Jan Maciolek, 19, of Albuquerque.

Karen, a 19-year-old Eastern New Mexico University sophomore, was the first to check in after a grueling trip.

Most of the girls were expected to arrive this weekend for the week of pageantry that begins Monday with registration and picture-taking, and ends Saturday night with the selection of the new Miss America.

Junior Editors Quiz on PLATYPUS

QUESTION: Why is the duck-billed platypus called a mammal, since it lays eggs?

* * * *

ANSWER: Experts tell us there are certain "dead end" places in our world where very ancient animals once moved to — and where they have remained in much the same stage of development. Australia is such a spot. It is thought that it was once connected by a land bridge with Asia, as shown in (A). As the first animals began to spread, many moved across the bridge into Australia. Among these were such strange creatures as the duck-billed platypus and some of the animals called marsupials, like the kangaroo, who carry their young in pouches after being born. After the first animals had moved in, the land bridge disappeared because of movements in the earth's crust. Australia thus became an island (B). The platypus is one of the ancient creatures which have survived to the present — such animals often being called "living fossils." Although it does lay eggs, the duck-bill is called a mammal because it suckles its young with milk, which is the distinctive mark of the mammal.

(Phillip Hess of Ponca City, Okla., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Aerial bombing was probably first tried in warfare by the Austrians during the siege of Venice in 1849. The Austrians launched bomb - laden balloons with fuses fixed to explode over the city. As nature's neutrality would have it, most of the balloons were blown off-course and some even floated back to explode over the Austrians.

Woman Vows Not To Reveal Name Of Art Thief

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP) — Tullah Hanley said she knows who stole the $1.6 million in art treasures from the Hanley home but she vowed she'll never tell.

"I will never tell," she said. "I am a person who keeps her word."

The FBI and police would not comment on the burglary.

Mrs. Hanley said Friday she told her husband for the first time that the 16 art gems were stolen from their home Aug. 21.

She said her 74-year-old husband, T. Edward, who she said was failing in health, was upset at first. But, she said he was glad the paintings, drawings and statues were returned in good condition.

She described him as "happy and satisfied."

Mrs. Hanley, a former Egyptian dancer, said she was leaving today for New York and Europe to search for more art objects.

Woman Vows Not To Reveal Name Of Art Thief

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP) — Tullah Hanley said she knows who stole the $1.6 million in art treasures from the Hanley home but she vowed she'll never tell.

"I will never tell," she said. "I am a person who keeps her word."

The FBI and police would not comment on the burglary.

Mrs. Hanley said Friday she told her husband for the first time that the 16 art gems were stolen from their home Aug. 21.

She said her 74-year-old husband, T. Edward, who she said was failing in health, was upset at first. But, she said he was glad the paintings, drawings and statues were returned in good condition.

She described him as "happy and satisfied."

Mrs. Hanley, a former Egyptian dancer, said she was leaving today for New York and Europe to search for more art objects.
